COOLIDGE AT LAST RULES SHIP BOARD

Removal of Head of Fleet Corporation Clears Way to Sale of U. S. Boats

PRESIDENT HAS MAJORITY

Mr. Crowley Lost Position by Disagreeing With Policy of Chief

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

(Copyright 1926, Post Pub. Co.)

Paul Smith's, N. Y.—President Coolidge has had his way at last with the shipping board. The removal of Elmer E. Crowley as president of the Emergency Fleet corporation and the appointment instead of Brigadier General A. C. Dalton is the culmination of a controversy which has been going on almost from the very day Mr. Coolidge took the oath of office nearly three years ago. It means that Mr. Coolidge's determination to get rid of the ships operated by the government will be carried out.

The public may any day look for an announcement that big banking interests have purchased the United States lines which operates the Leviathan, George Washington and other steamers in the north Atlantic. For if a purchase can be found the government will dispose of these vessels just as was the case on the Pacific coast when the Dollar lines purchased the Admiral-Orion lines.

POLICY COSTS POSITION

In fact it was the refusal of Mr. Crowley to agree with the Shipping Board in the sale of the Pacific coast ships which cost him his position. There was no reflection on him. He was put in office when the majority of the board was not in line with the Coolidge policy and when it was still believed that the government should retain the vessels and operate them rather than let them go at a sacrifice without a guarantee that certain trade routes would be maintained.

Mr. Coolidge took his time and finally re-organized the Shipping Board by the use of his power of appointment. Accepting the resignation of Bert Haney of Oregon and Fred Thompson of Alabama who saw no opportunity to carry out the policies in which they believed, Mr. Coolidge hesitated a long time before re-appointing Chairman O'Connor. The latter had voted to remove Admiral Palmer who had been appointed at the request of Mr. Coolidge. This incident was finally explained to the president by interested friends and Mr. O'Connor was forgiven and re-appointed.

WANT EXPLANATION

Now Mr. Coolidge has a majority—Messrs. O'Connor, Teller, Hill and Walsh. The minority—Admiral Benson, Democrat and Vice-Chairman Plummer, Republican—asked in vain for the reasons for the removal of Mr. Crowley but it was not considered necessary to advise them.

Under the system in vogue, the Shipping Board has always controlled the Emergency Fleet Corporation by asking in advance that as soon as the president of the corporation is appointed his resignation be placed in the hands of the Shipping Board so it may be accepted at any time that he does not suit the wishes of the board. Thus General Dalton's appointment will be accompanied by the submission of his resignation to conform with previous policy.

Congress has shown a disposition to interfere in the Shipping Board controversy from time to time so the plan to remove Mr. Crowley and appoint General Dalton was held up until after adjournment. Now it is presumed that the sale of the ships and other questions that have been postponed until a majority of the board would work with President Coolidge will be carried into effect at once. The president wanted to do this during the last recess of congress but he did not have a majority, as Commissioner Northwest declined, believing that the government would lose certain trade routes if the government sold its vessels.

SELL BEST LINES

The prospective sale of the United States lines can be attributed to the fact that the government's operation has not been efficient but on the road to profit. That was the complaint of some of the commissioners. They objected to the sale of the lines that were becoming profitable on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, leaving the government to foot the bill on the other routes.

Robert P. Skinner, United States consul general at Paris, has been nominated by President Coolidge as minister to Greece. He will succeed Irwin B. Laughlin, who resigned recently.

NASH MOTOR CO. SPLITS PROFITS

Issue Regular Dividends Amounting to $5,500,000 at Directors' Meeting

Kenasha — (AP) — Profits totalling nearly $5,500,000 were split up by directors of the Nash Motor Car Co. at their semi-annual meeting at the company offices here Friday when they established the stock on a regular dividend basis of 50 cents quarterly per share and declared $1 per share covering the first two quarters of this fiscal year, and also an extra dividend of $1 per share likewise on a basis of 50 cents quarterly.

Both dividends are payable August 2, 1926 to holders of stock at the close of business July 29, 1926. The company reported the second quarter of its 1926 fiscal year after deduction of all expenses, this including all taxes and federal income tax, the net consolidated income for the Nash Motors Co. and its subsidiary the Ajax Motors Co. to be $6,010,824.45. Adding to this the income for the first quarter the total earnings for the first six months were $11,148,325.51. Announcement was made of election of Earl H. McCarty of Kenosha and George C. Lee of Boston, to the board.

Wife To Raise Money To Save Scott By Fasting

Will Give Exhibition in Glass Cage in Detroit Theater

Detroit — (AP) — Mrs. Catherine Scott plans to begin Sunday a public fast to raise funds for further efforts to save her husband, Russell Scott, from the gallows and also to keep their three children from being sent to an orphanage. The exhibition will be in a large downtown theater.

Russell Scott is to hang in Chicago on October 15, for the murder of Joseph Maurer, a drug clerk. Mrs. Scott recently attempted to make a public fast in Chicago, but was prevented by the police.

14 GUARDS ARE HELD IN SHAFT BY PRISONERS

Warden Believes Self Imposed Confinement Is Protest Over Lack of Sheets

BULLETIN

Lansing, Kansas — (AP) — Warden W. H. Mackey of the Kansas state penitentiary Saturday flatly refused to arbitrate with 375 mutinous convicts who Friday seized the prison mine by entrenching themselves in its 730 foot level and holding as prisoners the 13 guards assigned to watch them.

Lansing, Kansas — (AP) — Jeering at offers of arbitration, 372 Kansas state prison convicts early Saturday refused to leave the 730-foot level of the penitentiary coal mine in which they Friday locked themselves and 14 guards.

Warden W. H. Mackey said he believed the self-imposed imprisonment was part of a protest over a shortage of bed sheets in prison cell houses. Only recently the prisoners staged a demonstration to stress their demands for sheets, he said, shouting and rattling cell doors for the greater part of the night. The shortage of bedding, Warden Mackey declared, was due to lack of funds in the last appropriation by the state legislature.

Entering the mine as usual Friday morning the convict miners went about their tasks until 10:30 A. M. when the cage was lowered with food for the shaft crew. As the cage reached the 730 foot drift it was commanded by a group of prisoners. Large timbers were shoved through the cage framework making it impossible to raise it.

BLOCK ENTRANCE

Surface guards immediately attempted to enter the mine but the cage blocked their way. The prisoners refused to send a committee to the shaft to consider "terms," apparently fearing repetition of a ruse used to quell a similar mutiny in 1915. At that time a conference was agreed on but prison officials lowered armed guards and the mutineers were overpowered.

Fear for the safety of the guards caused Warden Mackey to proceed with caution in attempting to extricate the convicts. He planned to make no effort to bring them out until later this morning, believing that hunger may cause the prisoners to surrender.

Frank Norris, convicted of murder at Leavenworth, Kan., was a leader in the cell house demonstration, the warden said, and is believed to be one of the leaders in the mutiny.

Although the mutineers have a supply of dynamite there are no caps in the workings.

Cal Doubts If Fish Tale Is Of National Importance

President Will Enjoy Summer Diversions at White Pine Camp

Paul Smith's N. Y. — (AP) — President Coolidge's summer diversions at White Pine camp are to be the out of door pastimes that suggest themselves from time to time in such a wilderness spot. They include no long motor trips except a journey to Plymouth, Vermont, his boyhood home which he may visit next week for a few days.

The vacation, however is not to be all play. The duties of his office have followed him to the Adirondacks, and he is spending a part of each day in his comfortable study at the camp attending to his work as it is sent him from the executive offices here.

Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will spend their weekend at the camp quietly, members of their party believe. They will attend church, but have not yet selected the place.

President Coolidge's recreations, particularly his experiments with fishing tackle, have attracted so much attention since he came to the mountaintops that his official spokesman was led to express a doubt at Friday's conference with newspapermen as to whether his exploits as a fisherman constitute a matter of sufficient national importance to warrant the publicity they have received.

Queried concerning the pike Mr. Coolidge landed on the day of his arrival, the president's representative remarked with a grin that it was bad manners to question any story about fishing and there the subject was dropped.

TURNESA COPS LEAD IN OPEN GOLF TOURNEY

Mehlhorn Two Strokes Behind New York Pro at End of 54 Holes

BULLETIN

Columbus, Ohio — Frank Walsh, professional at Butte des Morts club, Appleton, Wis., had a total score of 235 at the end of 54 holes. He scored a 37 and a 39 for a total of 76 in the day's first round.

Columbus, O. — (AP) — Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, dropped the lead in the national open golf tournament Saturday at the end of the third round by taking 76 for a total of 219, two strokes behind Joe Turnesa of New York, whom he led by the same margin at the half way mark. Bobby Jones was in temporary third place with 220.

As the players stood with about half of the field reported, Joe Turnesa had a lead, three strokes ahead of Bobby Jones, with Leo Diegel in third place at 223.

MacDonald Smith had crept up from the bottom to near the top with 226, one stroke behind Willie Klein, Daniel Williams of New York, who was third to Bill Mehlhorn at the half way point took slightly and dropped back with 224. George McLean of New York, despite an aggravating 42 on the second nine that made him break a club around a tree was fairly well up with 227.

Willie Mac Farlane, defending champion, shot a fair 75 and totalled 226, not far from the top. Tommy Armour shot 35-39-74 for a total that tied the champion.

Hunter bagged four birdies and got an eagle on the 480 yard eighth, but he went one over par on three holes. It was about the best round he has played since he came to America and became a professional. John Farrell of New York, duplicated Hunter's sixty nine for a total of 224.

Scores for the first round Saturday and totals for 54 holes included: Joe Turnesa, New York, 35-37-72-217.

Emmet French, Southern Pines, N. C., 35-38-76-223.

Bobby Jones, Atlanta, 35-36-71-220.

Leo Diegel, New York, 36-39-75-223.

William Klein, New York, 38-37-75-225.

MacDonald Smith, New York, 34-34-63-226.

Dan Williams, New York, 40-40-80-224.

Willie Hunter, Los Angeles, 34-35-69-221.

Walter Hagen, Pasadena, Fla., 34-40-74-224.

MADISON MAN ON ZIMMERMAN STATE TICKET

Conrad Hansen Seeks G. O. P. Nomination for Lieutenant Governor

Madison — (AP) — Conrad Hansen, Madison, grocer and formerly a railroad man Saturday announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor, and asserted he was in accord with the principles of the late Senator La Follette.

It was indicated unofficially that Mr. Hansen has the support of Secretary Fred R. Zimmerman, candidate for the gubernatorial nomination and that they probably will be running mates in the pre-primary campaign.

John M. O'Rourke, Milwaukee, a supporter of the late Senator La Follette and legislative representative of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen, announced his candidacy Saturday for the nomination for Secretary of State as a progressive Republican.

With the announcement Saturday, a complete list of candidates for state office has appeared under the progressive Republican designation in opposition to the so called La Follette-Blaine-Ekern ticket.

C. B. Baldrif, former treasury agent, is seeking the nomination for state treasurer, and George M. Sheldon, member of the real estate broker's board, for attorney general.

During the last six years very few measures of real value to the common people were enacted into law," Mr. Hansen stated, "although the progressives were practically in control of the legislature at all times. The laboring classes are concerned in having steady employment at a living wage to insure them food, clothing and shelter. As lieutenant governor I shall have the opportunity to support legislation in their behalf."

FINE WINE BATH GIRL FOR PASSING STOP LIGHT

Chicago — (AP) — Joyce Hawley whose abruptions in wine brought to Earl Carroll, New York theatrical producer a sentence for perjury, was fined $50 here Saturday for ignoring two stop lights early Saturday.

"And I guess you'll pay it" remarked the court. "Because there's no bath with wine in it at the bridge well. She posed for photographers while the obligation was discharged by the publicity agent for the cabaret where she is appearing, and quit the building where she had spent a night in a cell after "sassing" arresting officers."

HEAT WAVE IS WASHED OUT BY HEAVY RAINS

Sweeps Through Widely Separated Areas of Northern and Eastern States

Chicago — (AP) — On the heels of one of the severest heat waves of the season, heavy rain and wind storms of torrential proportions have brought death and destruction to widely separated areas of the north and east.

Sudden storms, striking sporadically ran through the northern part of the country Friday and Friday night, with further disturbances in prospect for much of the territory Saturday.

The heat and tempestuous weather caused more than a dozen deaths Friday. One twister swooped down in the St. Joseph valley near Buchanan, Mich., killed three persons and injured three others in leveling several small cottages, and then cut a half mile path westward. In northern Indiana high winds swirled through Hammond and Michigan City unroofing houses, blowing over trees and damaging communication lines.

Further east, a severe storm wrecked a large circus tent in which the 101 ranch was showing to several thousand spectators at Erie Pa. Friday night, killing one man and injuring seven others.

At Coney Island New York three died of heat. Seven others were prostrated in the metropolis. At Chicago three heat deaths were recorded to add to seven of the previous day. A heat crazed man killed himself at Gary Ind., two persons were drowned in or near Chicago, and an 18 year old youth was killed near Lakeland Mo.

Western New York also suffered severely from storms following the hottest weather of the season. A boy was killed by lightning at Holcombe.

CYRENAICAN BRIGANDS KILL TWENTY-EIGHT

Rome — (AP) — Twenty two soldiers, five civilians and one native were killed by Cyrenaican brigands in a surprise attack on a wagon train proceeding from Apollonia to Cyrene, the colonial office announces.

The train, consisting of four companies of civilians and one company of soldiers, with a military escort, was going to Cyrene as part of a concentration of forces in an effort to break up the wholesale brigandage in the region between Tarich Aazza and the sea.

Reinforcements arriving after the attack, dispersed the brigands and captured a number of chiefs. Severe penalties are being inflicted upon those responsible.

Rail Board Considers One Man Street Cars

Milwaukee Line Seeks Permission to Try Economical Operation

Madison — (AP) — The application of the Milwaukee electric railway and light company for permission to experiment with one man street car service on the Wells-Downer line in Milwaukee was held open for further consideration by the state railroad commission at the close of a hearing Saturday.

E. B. Way, president and James D. Shaw, attorney representing the company explained that the application was made in the interest of economy and was designed to demonstrate to patrons that one-man cars are capable of maintaining schedules and giving higher service by greater frequency of operation during non-rush periods.

W. J. Mattison, assistant city attorney of Milwaukee, suggested that while there was virtually no complaint against one-man car service on other lines, patrons should be given an opportunity to express their views at a public hearing.

TRIAL OF PORTER ON THEFT CHARGE ENDS

Waukegan — (AP) — The trial of William A. Johnson, of Chicago, pullman porter accused of the theft of two diamond rings valued at $2,500 is expected to be concluded late Saturday. Johnson was arrested following the disappearance of the jewelry from a passenger in the car in his charge when the train arrived here.

He gave the jury these alternatives: guilty and the death penalty; guilty and life imprisonment; guilty and a minimum sentence, and acquittal.

Durkin, who had retained his composure throughout the trial, yawned midway in the 38 minute charge to the jury. He was perspiring freely however as the jury filed out. Bailiffs cleared the court room and the prisoner was led away to his cell to await the verdict. Durkin the young gunman only 24 years old showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

The jury had voted him guilty at 2 A. M. after retiring to deliberate on his fate at 10:50 P. M. Friday night.

At 8:45 Superior Judge Harry B. Miller was on the bench and the verdict ending a six weeks trial finding Durkin guilty of the murder of Shannahan on October 11, 1925, whom he shot down in a Chicago garage when the federal man attempted to arrest him on a charge of transporting a stolen automobile in violation of the federal Dyer act.

Throughout the trial Durkin and his counsel maintained that he shot in self defense, believing Shannahan a robber, when the latter, armed with a revolver, approached him in the garage where Durkin had driven with an automobile which the state charged had been stolen.

FIND BANDIT GUILTY AFTER 3 HOUR DEBATE

Debonaire Chicago Gunman Is Calm as Sentence Is Passed

RELATIVES BREAK DOWN

Defendant Maintains That Shooting Was in Self Defense

Chicago — (AP) — Martin J. Durkin, sheik automobile thief and gunman, guilty of murdering Edwin C. Shannahan, federal agent. The jury which found him guilty recommended penalty of 35 years imprisonment.

While relatives of the 24 year old youth wept as the verdict was read, Durkin remained calm.

"Oh, bologney," he said. "It's a fine state of affairs when a man can't use a gun to protect himself. I was tried for everything but murder."

Durkin later intimated his dread of 35 years imprisonment with the expression, "they should have hanged me."

The youthful criminal, who fled to California and back with one sweet heart, later, to return and shoot another girl was found to have shot the official while the latter was attempting to arrest him for automobile theft.

The penalty was fixed at 35 years imprisonment. The jury reported its verdict at 8 o'clock. Six hours after agreement the jurors took a trifle more than three hours to weigh the evidence in the month long trial and reach an agreement on conviction, holding that Durkin turned murderer when he shot and killed the government official who sought to arrest him as an automobile thief.

Durkin's plea was self defense that he had shot the federal operative because he believed him a bandit jeopardizing the $2,000 of admittedly bootleg liquor profits which the youth carried at the time.

The conviction agreement was reached at 2 A. M. on the fourth ballot. The first stood eight to four against Durkin, the next was nine to three and on the third ten had been won to a guilty decision.

COURT STATES CASE

Judge Miller, balancing the state's contention that Shannahan was making a legal arrest in a justifiable manner and Durkin's self defense plea, pointed out that the drawing of a weapon does not imply malice but fear, and legitimate fear if the person believes himself in danger. The court also pointed out however, that if Durkin had any intimation of Shannahan's identity as a law officer he was resisting arrest and was guilty of murder.

He gave the jury these alternatives: guilty and the death penalty; guilty and life imprisonment; guilty and a minimum sentence, and acquittal.

Durkin, who had retained his composure throughout the trial, yawned midway in the 38 minute charge to the jury. He was perspiring freely however as the jury filed out. Bailiffs cleared the court room and the prisoner was led away to his cell to await the verdict. Durkin the young gunman only 24 years old showed no emotion when the verdict was read.

CAR OWNERS PAY $13,782,245 TO STATE LAST YEAR

Money Is Collected for Licenses and Gasoline
Taxes

Madison, Wis., (AP)—Owners of automobiles, trucks and motorcycles paid $13,782,245 into the state treasury of Wisconsin during the fiscal year ending June 30, figures in the office of State Treasurer Solomon Levitan and Secretary of State Fred R. Zimmerman show.

The money was collected from the users of highways for license fees and the gasoline tax. It is used for highway construction and maintenance, after the cost of administration is deducted.

The total receipts of the automobile licensing division of the secretary of state's office for the fiscal year were $3,922,090.85. This included license and title registration fees. The receipts of the state treasurer from the gasoline tax amounted to $5,025,553.41 from June 1, 1925, to the same date this year. Refunds for gasoline used for purposes other than propelling vehicles over the highways amounted to $165,799, leaving a total of $1,860,154.41 collected from the gasoline tax.

There were 556,326 motor vehicles registered in Wisconsin on June 30, of these, 519,654 were automobiles, 70,668 were trucks, and 2,433 motorcycles, all privately owned. The total included 456 busses. The remainder were vehicles registered by dealers of municipalities, the latter owning 403, of which 63 were motorcycles.

Ten years ago, 100,000 motor vehicles were registered in this state, a record at that time.

The registration receipts for the past fiscal year included $631,719.55 collected from July 1 to December 31, 1925, and $5,258,545.25 from January 1 to June 30, 1926. They also include delinquent fees collected during the period.

SET NEW RECORD FOR WATER USE

Appleton Used More Water
Wednesday Than on Any Other Day in Two Years

Appleton people consumed more water Wednesday than they have any single day in the last two years, according to A. J. Hall, superintendent of its water plant, who reported that 2,090,000 gallons were pumped through the filtration plant during the day. The volume of water pumped to consumers Thursday was 2,020,000 gallons. The figure for Wednesday is an increase of about 350,000 gallons above the normal summer days average of 1,750,000 gallons. The high figure for Wednesday indicates only the highest single day water consumption in two years and not the highest pump-out record as at certain times there was a leakage in the system which must be discounted when the consumption total is compiled.

INCREASE FUNDS OF STATE BY $250,000

Madison (AP)—The state of Wisconsin closed the fiscal year on June 30 with almost $250,000 more than it had at the beginning of it on July 1, 1925.

The state had $20,484,351.18 at the close of the fiscal year, the report of State Treasurer Solomon Levitan shows. At the beginning of the period, the state's balance was $20,238,698.34.

The funds on hand on July 1 were distributed as follows: Deposited in checking banks, $1,265,000.83; deposited in banks not subject to check, $19,218,398.03; cash in vault, $95,232.32; the balance decreased during June from $21,227,350.42. Receipts during the month were $4,271,573.53, and disbursements were $5,015,072.54.

COUNTY OFFICIALS IN JOINT CONVENTION

A joint convention of Wisconsin county registers of deeds and treasurer associations will be held at Green Bay on July 16 and 17. A. G. Koch, register of deeds, and Miss Marie Ziegenfuss, county treasurer, have not made definite plans to attend. The program includes a number of speakers on subjects of interest to county treasurers and registers of deeds, and several business sessions, and a number of trips and social gatherings. Judge Henry Graess of Green Bay, will be the principal speaker at the banquet which is to be held at the Green Bay municipal pavilion on the evening of July 17.

The convention is to be held jointly as the work of county treasurers and registers of deeds is similar in many respects.

Ernest Beyer, clerk of the Sunny View school, district No. 3, in the town of Black Creek, was the first clerk to submit his annual report to A. G. Meating, county school superintendent. Mr. Beyer's report, which was submitted Friday morning, shows that there are 75 children of school age in his district. A financial statement also was included in the report. After Superintendent Meating has received reports from all school clerks, he will compile his annual report from the data received.

ONLY ONE CONTAGIOUS DISEASE IN APPLETON

One case of scarlet fever is the only contagion in the city at this time, according to Theodore Sanders, deputy health officer. It is expected that the quarantine on this case will be lifted Monday and if no other instances of contagious disease develop in the meantime the city will be entirely free from contagion. At this time last year there were four contagious disease cases in the city.

SMOKING BLAINE OUT

Governor John J. Blaine, who claims to be an authority on bombastic bluff, is up a tree. He is a sick possum out on a shaky limb, as he looks down into the fire Senator Lenroot has started beneath the tree. When Mr. Lenroot first challenged the governor to debate the world court, which Blaine asserted was a major issue in the senatorial campaign, the governor tried to wriggle out by saying that he did not want to appear at a fair where the audience would be distracted by horse races and other entertainment. Mr. Lenroot was quick to see the hole in this fake defense, and promptly renewed the challenge, suggesting an additional day be added to the fair program with himself and Blaine as the sole attraction. Senator Lenroot promised him "a bigger crowd than at any meeting he (Blaine) will have in the state," and also guaranteed that the crowd will "forget all about horse races for two hours."

And then, to meet all the governor's objections relating to fair distraction, etc., Mr. Lenroot issues still another challenge to debate him on the same platform in any auditorium of his selection. And what will be this chivalrous, courteous, fastidious governor, who never engages in bombastic bluff, now that his own bluff has been called, do? He will sidestep, of course. He will cook up some other excuse to try and get out of a meeting. "If we were in Senator Lenroot's place we would not give him a moment's peace. We would prod and prod and keep prodding him until we forced him to accept or to admit both his misstatements and his fear. It is as Mr. Lenroot says: "If a man has facts and justice on his side, he need fear no man. If not, he is afraid of anyone who has them." That is precisely the boat Mr. Blaine is in. He knows that facts and justice are against him. He does not dare debate.

In this case Mr. Blaine has made the grossest misstatements about the world court. He started out as the aggressor. He knew he could not substantiate his attacks. But he could get away with them before people who take his word and who do not stop to inquire into the facts, who do not want to know the facts. Then Mr. Lenroot "called" him. Now he (Blaine) says: "Debate on the world court in the senate was suppressed through cloture, but debate in the open forum before the people of Wisconsin cannot be suppressed, and I will not divide my time with another." No bombast in this, of course. By it he means that buncombe cannot be suppressed, so long as he has the audience to himself. When he talks of "debate in the open forum before the people of Wisconsin," if such a phrase means anything at all it means a man-to-man discussion, such as may be had in any forum, and not running about the state trying to escape the adversary and hurling brick bats from ambush. Perhaps Mr. Blaine has heard of certain debates between one A. Lincoln and Stephen A. Douglas. They did not hide behind horse race myths and pop bottle interruptions in those days. Opponents met face to face.

That Blaine is not a man-to-man fighter everyone knows. It is the backroom stuff for him, and the tricking of audiences with a lot of wild assertions where there is no one to challenge on the spot. He will continue to run away from Mr. Lenroot throughout the campaign and before the campaign is ten days old the senator will have him on the defensive on every issue involved. The people ought to demand that Blaine stand up and take his medicine. They should want a fair, square, free fight. They should want to see these two rivals in a ring, so to speak, and let the best man win. But the truth is there is not enough nerve in Blaine to fight that way. We suspect he is scared to death of Lenroot. That he means to keep well out of his way is evident. As for Lenroot, he may not overtake him, but he will keep this grasshopper politician on the jump.

MUNICIPAL OWNERSHIP

An interesting account of the experiences of nearly two hundred cities in Iowa with municipal ownership of their electric light and power supplies is detailed by Arthur M. Evans in an article published by the Chicago Tribune. According to the writer, one hundred seven cities in that state have foregone municipal ownership entirely, while seventy-two others which own their distribution systems have ceased supplying their energy and buy it from transmission lines. There is no municipal ownership of street railways in Iowa. Many of them would like to sell but they cannot get the municipalities to buy.

It is a matter of cold, practical experience with Iowans. They have found, after testing out over a long period of years both private and municipal ownership of power plants, that they can secure cheaper energy from the former. In dollars and cents they are money ahead to let these enterprises be owned and operated by private capital. In the year 1922, Iowa municipal electrical plants were receiving 6.3 cents per kilowatt hour for their total output, while commercial establishments were selling their total output at 1.8 cents per kilowatt hour. Current for lighting cost about the same for both types of plants, but on current for power the average kilowatt hour revenue was 1.5 cents for the commercial as against 5 cents for the municipal plant.

We have always believed that municipalities are better served at lower prices by privately operated companies in all branches of municipal service except water. A city's water supply, by its very nature, ought to be owned and controlled by the municipality. The people can afford to pay more for their water if necessary. Street cars, gas and electricity, while essentials are not indispensable. All of these businesses are more or less competitive. Private companies have learned in the last generation that it pays them to give bonafide service to their customers at the lowest possible cost consistent with a reasonable profit. They have learned to treat the public considerably and they have come to understand that the permanency of their business and its success depend entirely on public goodwill. This has resulted in a lowering of rates for public service and a great improvement in the service itself. Moreover, most companies engaging in power development and supply are now conducting these enterprises as operating concerns, and are not using them to exploit the people through financial manipulation.

The experiences of Iowa are illuminative. They show unmistakably that the trend toward efficiency, economy and high class service is altogether on the side of privately owned public utilities. On the other hand, plants that remain in municipal ownership are even more extravagantly operated than they formerly were, with increased rates to the consumer and higher taxes to the property owners. In both the conduct of public utilities by owner and operator and in their regulation by the state and municipality, we are approaching a condition which is highly satisfactory from the standpoint of the consumer.

TODAY'S POEM

By HAL COCHRAN

Little sister's mighty good, an' don't sit the things she should. Fine behavior, here of late, an' dad and mother say, "that's great."
"Helpin' round the house all day. Doesn't seem to care to play. Washes dishes, sweeps up, 'oo. All such things she's pleased to do."
To the store she's glad to go a dozen times a day, 'er so. Find out what the trap's about and tins—ta help her mother out.
Dad comes home. Is mighty pleased, findin' sister hasn't napped, or kicked on work, or even cried. Just been good—and satisfied.
Mother knows just why she tries to be so nice. Why, shucks, she's wise. Workin', helpin' all she can, to get a stand in; that's her plan.
Seven now, but close to eight. Betcher life, she knows the date. Birthday's comin'. What's in store? Well—that's what sister's workin' for.
Once they kissed and made up. Now they kiss the makeup.

HOW BOOKWORMS GET THAT WAY

A reader asks about the physiological effects of the bookworm habit. The bookworm in question, nearly thirty years of age has been an inveterate reader since childhood. Her reading has been without supervision. She has grown up on cheap fiction but has learned to discriminate, though she still reads fiction chiefly. She reads evenings, often late into the night, and all day Sundays. She is moody, irritable, absent minded and pessimistic, nervous, and perennially tired. Her physician reported after a recent physical examination that she is organically sound. The reader finds she has unusually good vision. Is her temperamental state the result of too much reading? She finds no other form of recreation or pastime congenial in the small community in which she lives. May she enjoy a normal emotional life and perhaps better physical health by substituting other interests for much of her reading and cultivating a social spirit and more social habits?

Before I attempt to pass upon the hygienic side of the problem, let me explain what a crude conception I have of fiction. A reviewer of English told his class that the novels of one of the best sellers of the day are trash. I'd go further and say that all fiction is trash, although I have an insatiable appetite for good murder yarns and I envy and admire the knack, genius or skill of the author who can invent a plausible plot for such a story and carry it through to a satisfactory finish. It seems to me there is one feature which takes the curse off from the habit of indulging in this class of fiction—no one takes the mystery tale seriously; it is purely amusement or pastime. Not so with ordinary fiction, classic or contemporary. Such yarns are solemnly discussed as conveying "a philosophy of life," a slice of life, propaganda, moral or immoral lessons, and all that sort of bunkum. It seems ridiculous to take an avowed lie as seriously as that.

Provided there is no uncorrected defect of vision and proper illumination of the page, a normal individual can scarcely suffer any injury to health from excessive reading. I said a normal individual. This does not apply to invalids or persons with impaired health. They should have their physician's advice about reading.

An individual who becomes a bookworm as the reader describes cannot long remain normal. The physician pronounced this bookworm "organically sound," although she suffers from headaches and emotional depression. May not the apparent neglect of open air exercise be responsible for the health habit of taking a few miles of oxygen on the hoof every day? Or any other form of exercise to chase the Willies? I believe an hour of outdoor work or play will antidote any evil influence a reader may suffer from five hours of reading. Outdoor exercise is better than indoor exercise because outdoors one gets plenty of vitamin X, some vitalizing influence which comes from sunlight.

A good reading light falls from above and slightly behind the reader's field of vision, from a clear, red, ground glass or opal globe, a clear soft light without glare. The lamp or window should never be within the field of vision when one is reading or doing any kind of fine or close work with the eyes.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Consult Dog Doctor

The rabies has been among dogs in a nearby community. Our dog has nine puppies, several of which were sick and frothing at the mouth so we had to chloroform them. Do you think they have rabies? (Mrs. A. C. W.)

Answer—Consult a veterinary physician.

Yes, Honey

Is bees honey fattening? (L. O. T.)
Answer—Bees' honey is the only kind of honey I know about, and it is as fattening as cornstarch, candy, cane sugar or molasses.

LOOKING BACKWARD

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, July 13, 1901

The marriage of Andrew Wehr to Appleton and Jennie Hanson of Maple Creek took place the previous Wednesday at Vauaus.

A number of Appleton people were on the Ashland division passenger train which was delayed about six hours by a freight train a few miles north side of Manitowoc. The wreck was caused by the breaking of a flange on one of the box cars of the train. Some of the train crew were injured but two tramps who were stealing a ride in a box car loaded with lumber were hurt.

Miss Millie Lyons had returned from a two months visit in Chicago.

Mrs. G. W. Jones was a guest at the home of her father Daniel Sackett.

Among the Appleton people who were attending the Pan-American exposition at Buffalo were: Miss Etta Kamps, Miss Emily Hettinger, Miss Merkel, Miss Mayne Shields, Miss Eliza James, A. H. Ruth, Will P. Kamps, Edwin Mitchell, Mrs. Bertin Ramsey and daughters Hallie and Ethel.

Among Appleton people who were occupying cottages at Aloha and Lochryst were Frank W. Harriman and family, Dr. Walter Conkey and family, H. J. Siffer and family, W. H. Killen and family, H. H. Rogers and family.

Miss Winifred Bright was to entertain a large company of friends the following Monday at her home on Durkee-st.

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, July 8, 1916

Russian troops captured three villages in the region of Kolka in hot bayonet fighting, the war office announced that day.

Mrs. Anton Van Ooyen entertained about 20 lady members of Appleton lodge of Moose the previous afternoon at her home on Racine-st, Menasha.

Mrs. Jane Beach, president of the local Women's Relief Corps, was presented with a gold pin by the members of the corps at the meeting the previous afternoon in honor of her election as department chaplain.

Miss Mary Ethel Thomas, daughter of Mrs. Anna Thomas, Franklin-st., and Lawrence Hartzheim, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Hartzheim of Juncieu, were married at 7 o'clock that morning at St. Mary church.

Business for Appleton postoffice for the year ending June 30, 1915 had increased nearly 10 per cent over the year 1915, according to the report of Postmaster Keller that morning. The receipts for 1915 were $69,654.31 an increase of $5,333.40 over 1915 when receipts were $64,320.91.

Nicholas Evans of Milwaukee, Arthur Rossmelst Joseph E. Schweitzer and Louis Rechner of this city, all sons-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. M. Alberty, arrived in Appleton the previous afternoon after an automobile trip.

You may be full of good ideas.
Your dope may be immense;
But it takes dollars to convince
The world that you've got sense.

The boys over at the Cozy tell this one about the boss. He wanted some pain for a new barber pole and this is what he wrote to the paint manufacturer: "Gentlemen: Will you please send me some of your striped paint. I want enough for just one pole."

He didn't get it at the last report.

Appleton man (on train): "Toughest luck! I've lost my bag."
Second Man: Boy, you're lucky.
My wife is in the smoker with a traveling man; one of my kids just jumped out the window; the other one swallowed my ticket, and I'm on the wrong train.

Then the Appleton man fainted.

Some marry for money.
Some marry for spite,
Some marry for position, and

Mrs. Rooney, Again Heads Mission Club

Mrs. F. J. Rooney was reelected president and councillor of the Green Bay Diocesan branch of the Missionary association of Catholic women at the afternoon session of the annual convention Friday at St. Norbert college at DePere. Miss Catherine Martell of DePere was elected a councillor and treasurer of the association. All other officers were reelected and include vice president, Mrs. William Golden of Wrightstown; secretary, Miss Margaret T. Clark of Oshkosh and councillors, Miss Margaret Teck of Chilton, Mrs. George Bottkol of Green Bay, Mrs. William Golden of Wrightstown, Miss Margaret T. Clark of Oshkosh and Mrs. F. J. Rooney of Appleton.

The convention opened at 9 o'clock Friday with a solemn high mass. A mass also closed a 5-day retreat which had been conducted under the auspices of the association. Twenty-seven persons attended the retreat.

The Rev. Msgr. P. J. Lochman of Kaukauna read the mass, assisted by the Rev. Father Trauger as deacon and the Rev. Father Algers as sub-deacon. The Rt. Rev. Basse of South Sea Islands gave the benediction and the Rev. Father Exler preached the sermon.

The convention opened at 10 o'clock. Talks were given by the Rev. George Schenmer of Mackville, the Rev. Van Boegart of Alouez, Green Bay, the Rt. Rev. Basse of South Sea Islands, Miss Mary Lippert of Milwaukee, national president and the Rt. Rev. Abbot Pennings of DePere. Mrs. Rooney presided at the convention.

A dinner was served at noon in the dining hall at St. Norbert college. A display of vestments and altar linens made by the missionary societies in the Green Bay diocese was a feature of the convention. The Missionary society of St. Mary church in this city was complimented on its fine display of missionary articles. The exhibit was said to be one of the best ever held. The articles will be on display until 9 o'clock Sunday night at St. Norbert college.

FASHION HINTS

MOIRE FASHIONABLE

At the Paris openings, much attention is being given to the moire gown, particularly to the all black and all white model.

IDEAL DANCE FROCK

For summer dances, the simple frock of pastel colors chignon with handkerchief points or an irregular hemline of some sort and a molded bodice, is a wise purchase.

COAT AND TIE

A most interesting coat of black kasha cloth is lined with plaid in which red is the predominating color, and has a large tie as a part of the wrap.

BROCADED GEORGETTE

Brocade georgette crepe, in pastel tones, with fairly small, conservative patterns is shown for evening gowns.

INTRIGUING NAMES

Two new shades of pink, known as "Trancon" and "Recamier," slightly on the order of ashes of roses, are being exploited in Paris.

Help Make the World Better

Being optimists we believe that the world is constantly getting better and that in America, the coming of automobiles and outdoor travel for the majority makes possible a more wholesome, cleaner existence. The automobile has brought more fresh air, clean thinking and outdoor exercise.

In this modern age, the Church in common with all other institutions has new problems to solve. It has more keen competition, than ever before, for the attention of the public in an age of motor cars, movies, and radio. That most churches are meeting, thus, and keeping up interest in their work and satisfactory attendance without sacrificing the staunch principles of right and Christianity upon which they are founded, is greatly to their credit.

Of course more frequent church attendance is good for Americans of every age. It gives them an opportunity for introspection—a chance to pause in the race for material gain and give thought to the finer things of life. The children especially need a firm foundation of old fashioned Christianity and honest principles as a foundation for success in business or profession in life. The grown-up need frequent replenishing of the Christian ideals of childhood.

Sustain this valuable institution by personal attendance at this church tomorrow!

COLLEGE YOUTHS SING PROGRAM IN CHURCH HERE

A musical program was presented Friday evening at St. Matthew church by the Bass Cleff Four, a male quartet composed of students of Concordia Theological seminary of St. Louis. The young men are touring the middle western states during the summer, earning money to pay their school expenses.

In addition to the numerous quartet selections three pipe organ solos, a flute solo and tenor and bass solos were presented. Admission to the concert was free and a silver offering was taken to pay the expenses of the singers.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY

Breakfast—Stewed prunes, cereal, thin cream, poached eggs with crisp bacon, whole wheat toast, milk, coffee.

Luncheon—Baked spinach, cheese muffins, radishes, French rice pudding, milk, tea.

Dinner—Broiled parker-house steak, baked potatoes, creamed green beans, endive with bacon dressing, strawberry pudding, milk, coffee, whole wheat bread.

Of course juniors under school age do not indulge in the muffins and radishes suggested in the luncheon menu. Whole wheat bread and butter and finely minced green onions should be provided for small stay-at-home who are at the table.

STRAW PUDDING

One quart berries, 1 cup granulated sugar, 2 cups flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1-4 teaspoon salt, 1 cup milk, 3 eggs, 1-4 cup melted butter.

Hull and wash berries. Put into a buttered baking dish and sprinkle with sugar. Combine flour, salt and baking powder and sift into mixing bowl. Beat eggs until light and add with milk to dry ingredients. Stir until batter is perfectly smooth. Beat in melted butter, beating mixture for two minutes. Pour over berries in baking dish and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve warm with hard sauce.

This is a variation from the usual shortcake in that the berries are cooked and eggs are added to "cake." However, no sugar is used in the latter, the fruit alone being sweetened.

RECORD NUMBER ENROLLED IN SUMMER SCHOOLClasses Start Monday Morning
at County Normal School

Kaukauna—The largest number of students ever enrolled in a summer session of the Outagamie Rural Normal school is registered for courses which begin at 8 o'clock Monday morning. A high percentage of those enrolled are high school students who are making up back work. The courses will continue six days a week until August 14. By having classes six days a week it is possible to end the school one week sooner. Members of the faculty are W. P. Hazman, principal; Herbert Ludwig, J. J. Haase and Miss Mildred Carter.

Social Items

Kaukauna—Miss Laura Buetow entertained the U. R. club at her home Friday evening. The evening was spent in playing bridge.

Valley Shrine, No. 19 of the White Shrine of Jerusalem of Appleton will hold its annual picnic at the Kaukauna Tourist park Wednesday afternoon, July 14. Many visiting Shrine members are expected to attend.

About fifty members of the Kaukauna Women's club and their husbands attended the annual picnic and outing of the club Tuesday. The afternoon and evening was spent in bathing and playing cards at The Willows, L. F. Nelson's cottage on Lake Winnebago. A special meeting of the club was held at the picnic and an invitation was sent to the Ninth district of the Federation of Women's club to hold its annual picnic in Kaukauna. The next meeting of the club will be in May 1927. Committees were appointed to make arrangements and plans for the entertainment of the visitors. Chairman of the committees are Mrs. H. T. Runtz, Mrs. R. M. Radsch and Mrs. W. R. Harwood. Mrs. Heinz of Milwaukee and Mrs. E. Edwards of Cooke of Iron Mountain, Mich., were the out-of-town guests of the club.

The Women's Foreign Missionary society of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Parks at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Hostesses will be Mrs. Frank Parks and Mrs. Wilmer Johnson.

TRAPSHOOTING TEAM
IN COLEMAN TOURNEY

Kaukauna—Kaukauna's trapshooting team will go to Coleman to engage that city's team in the first place in the Northwestern Wisconsin Trapshooting League. Kaukauna is in second place with Manitowish leading the league and a win for Kaukauna and a loss for Manitowish will put the locals in first place. Coleman is in fourth.

The Kaukauna team is composed of C. W. Stribley, W. R. Harwood, W. Haywood, A. R. Jennings and J. J. Jansen. Many prizes will be awarded the winners in each event. A professional high gun prize is also being offered.

FARMERS ATTENDING
MONTHLY STOCK FAIR

Kaukauna—The Tri-County Fair Association held its July pig fair at the fair grounds on Dodge-st. Saturday.

No special entertainment was planned for the day because it was felt the farmer did not care to spend so much time in the city during this especially busy season. Many attractive bargains were offered by the city merchants.

BOARD OF REVIEW SETS
JULY 19 AS MEETING DAY

Kaukauna—The board of review will meet at 9 o'clock Monday morning, July 19 in the city clerk's office to hear complaints on assessments. This meeting was adjourned from Tuesday, July 6.

WAUPACA AGAINHope to Get Even for Beating at Weyauwega Last Monday

Special to Post-Crescent
New London—The city baseball team will go into action for the eighth time this season on Sunday afternoon when Waupaca invaded the local diamond. The two teams bumped horns at the Weyauwega fair grounds last Monday, and the game ended in a score of 9 to 3 and a fight, the former being in favor of the winners.

It is believed by the locals that Waupaca has the best team of the league. It is rumored that Laseh will again be back in the pitcher's box for the fracas. Laseh is the best hurler that the locals are able to put in the field, but he has played only one game this year.

Two Cars Damaged in Street Corner Crash

New London—What might have resulted in a serious accident occurred shortly after 10 o'clock on Friday evening when two cars, one driven by Andrew Laib of this city, and the other containing Miss Marie Hemmy and Russel Runenoff, collided on the corner of Spring and S. Pearl-sts.

Occupants of both cars escaped uninjured, but the cars were damaged.

UNDERTAKERS WILL ATTEND CONVENTION

New London—The Wisconsin Funeral and Embalmers' Association will hold its annual convention at Superior on July 27 to 29. Both local firms are members and are expected to have representatives at the meeting. Otto Fehrman, a member of one of the firms of Rosenreiter & Fehrman, is at present preparing to receive his diploma as a graduate embalmer at Des Moines.

Dodge Brothers dealers in United States have delivered 173,373 motor cars and trucks during the first half of 1926, a gain of 52,669 cars or 43.0% over the figure of 120,704 for the first half of 1925.

Although the final figures for Canada for the last week of the second quarter are not yet available, according to the preliminary report the gain in retail deliveries by Dodge Brothers dealers in the Dominion is over 65%.

Total shipments of motor cars and trucks from Dodge Brothers and Graham Brothers factories in the United States and Canada during the first six months of 1926 will probably not be available before July 15," said R. K. Wolter, "but the industry's gain of 13% over the corresponding period last year reported for the first five months of this year by the United States Department of Commerce will be little changed. By comparison Dodge Brothers gain is nearly four times as great as that of the industry."

HAPPY DAYS OF YOUTH

Cartoonist Appel has never forgotten the days of youth when he "carried water" for the elephant in order to see the circus performance, and he has set forth some impressions of the day, declaring that his first big circus was Sells-Floto, which will be in Appleton, Thursday, July 15.

COMMITTEE MEETS TO CONSIDER FORUM PLAN

A meeting of the forum committee of Appleton Chamber of Commerce will be held 4:30 Monday afternoon to consider plans for the fall and winter forum programs. A chamber of commerce forum meeting is held every month with a different committee in charge each time. Outside speakers usually are secured to lead the discussions. In addition to these events there are several merchants and manufacturers dinners during the season.

The program sub committee of the forum committee has outlined a tentative schedule of meetings and will submit the plan to the committee, as a whole for approval. J. L. Johns is chairman of the committee.

STAGE AND SCREEN

"BRIDE OF STORM" ONE OF THE BEST

Romance, thrills, drama, pathos, perfect acting, an exciting story, and splendid direction combine to make "Bride of the Storm," one of the best screen productions of the current season. Dolores Costello is starred in this J. Stuart Blackton production for Warner Bros., showing at the Elite Theatre today and Sunday, shows the lovely young star worthy of the enthusiastic praise which has been showered upon her since her performance in "The Sea Beast," starring John Barrymore.

John Harron, Otto Mattieson, Tyrone Power, Sheldon Lewis and Julia Swayne Gordon all give noteworthy performances in this important characterizations in this film version of "Maryland, My Maryland," written by James Francis Dwyer and adapted by Marian Constance.

"THE WILDERNESS WOMAN"
"The Wilderness Woman" which comes Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

day to the Elite Theatre here, is an adaptation of the celebrated Saturday Evening Post serial story by Arthur Stringer. Robert T. Kane made the picture for the First National release.

Aileen Pringle, Lowell Sherman and Chester Conklin have the featured roles. Miss Pringle appears in her first character comedy role, bringing a new and refreshing personality to the screen.

Lowell Sherman, instead of appearing in his customary role of the heavy, walks off with the laurels of the hero in "The Wilderness Woman," while Chester Conklin, the warring-moustached comedian, is afforded plenty of opportunities to get in his laughable work.

Not the least important character in the picture is a year-old bear, Miss Pringle, in her role of the Alaskan miner's daughter, brings the animal with her to New York, and the complications that follow must be seen to be appreciated.

Robert Cain and Henry Vibert also have important roles in the picture. The story was adapted from the original by Paul Bern and Paul Schofield and directed by Howard Higgin.

SPEEDBOATING GIVES BEBE CHILLING THRILL

Two collisions and a narrow escape from a third inside of five minutes furnished Bebe Daniels the thrill of her life during her recent speedboating activities in Florida where her new Paramount comedy, "The Palm Beach Girl," was made.

Armand Cortes, a member of the supporting cast, had learned to operate the boat the day before. The scene was laid in Miami harbor, which is crowded with more than 100 schooners and tramp steamers unloading building materials.

After cameras had been placed on several schooners, Miss Daniels and Mr. Cortes flashed northward across the harbor at a speed of nearly fifty miles an hour. As they passed between two anchored schooners they discovered a tug blocking their course. With great presence of mind, Mr. Cortes ordered the boat under the bow of a schooner, passing between the hull and the outstretched anchor chain. This maneuver brought him directly into the path of an approaching yacht. He grazed the white painted side of the yacht, and whirled westward toward the end of a pier.

Here again he was caught in a light place, and before he could shut off the power he had hit another speedboat and a fisherman's row and bounced off sideways.

Miss Daniels clung to the sides of the cockpit to prevent herself from being hurled overboard by the force of the impacts. She was unharmed, but was forced to rest for several minutes before resuming the scene.

Director Erle Kenton pronounced it one of the greatest thrill shots he had ever seen.

"The Palm Beach Girl" is based on an original story by Byron Morgan and the play, "Please Help Emily" by H. M. Harwood. Forrest Halsey adapted it for screen use. It depicts Bebe's hilarious and exciting adventures amidst the beauty spots and society atmosphere of Florida. The picture opens at Fischer's Appleton tomorrow (Sunday).

EXCITING SCENES IN NEW PICTURE

A picture comparing favorably with the very best of the year, "The Lodge in the Wilderness," will be shown at the New Bijou three days starting Monday. It is a gripping story of the great forests of the Northwest country, and the battle for the hand of a beautiful girl by two well-bred men.

A forest fire, the likes of which have seldom been seen on a screen is one of the dramatic highlights of

This absorbing picture drama. The escape of the hero by airplane from a prison where he is wrongfully confined to save the girl he loves from a terrible fate, is another exciting incident of the story.

Anita Stewart as the girl is as sweet and charming as ever while Edmund Burns as the stalwart young engineer in charge of constructing sumes for the lodging camp plays his role without criticism. Others in the cast are Victor Potel, as the half-wit, Lawrence Steers, Duane Thompson, Eddie Lyons and James Farley.

"The Lodge in the Wilderness" is suggested from a story of the same name by Sir Gilbert Parker and was directed by Henry McCarty, who made a mighty fine picture.

PEOTTERS HAVE ORIGINAL AUTO TOWING SERVICE

Local Concern Establishes Ambulance Service in Connection With Car Towing

"Nobody wants to have his or her car stall on some lonely country road in the wee small hours of the morning and much less do they want to be the prominent parties in an automobile smashup, especially if one of the cars in such an accident happens to be their own. But in spite of what people want as long as there are automobiles on the roads there will be stalled motors and plenty of accidents and there will doubtless be even more of these troubles as the number of cars increase year by year with a resulting increase in the already huge volume of traffic.

But a stalled motor or even an accident does not seem nearly as serious if one knows of a reliable auto towing service to call on at any time of the day or night. Such an organization is the Peotter Towing Service at 621 W. College-ave. The Peotter service was started four years ago and is Appleton's original towing service. Disabled and wrecked cars are towed to any garage or to the Peotter shop, where a specialty is made of repairing wrecks.

Not only do the Peotters maintain an efficient day and night towing service but in connection with this line of work they have an up to date ambulance service for serious accidents. A motorist who is in trouble or anyone who finds some one seriously injured in an automobile accident need only call the Peotter shop and who ever takes the call will see that an ambulance is sent to the scene of the disaster immediately. The concern has made arrangements with certain ambulance owners of the city to give this service and are thus enabled to have an ambulance at their immediate call at any moment of the day or night.

Wrecked cars are repaired at the Peotter shop so that no one can tell they have figured in any more or less serious smashup. A specialty is made of straightening fenders, putting in new frames, axles and other body parts.

LULL IN TRADE LESS PRONOUNCED THAN EVER

The lull in lumber demand usual at this season seems to be less pronounced than in former years, because country retailers especially have been keeping their stocks low and buying only when they must replenish their assortments. As a result, yard stocks as a whole are less than would be adequate for good fall demand, many lumbermen in farming sections withholding their orders until assured that the promise of excellent crops would be fulfilled. Reports from every section of the country indicate that they will be, and there is a growing disposition to prepare for an expansion in trade, now that the midyear inventory date is passed, says the American Lumberman, Chicago. Increased interest in buying is evidenced by heavier volume of inquiry. City yards seem to have their needs pretty well provided for, though they are said to be selling more than they are buying, but improvement is seen in the volume of purchases for current needs.

Southern pine mills have continued to find their best trade in the southern States. Total bookings during the week ended June 25 were 3 percent below the production, but the mills are encouraged by the fact that they came from a wider territory, and include a good deal of oil field business. Active call from the Southwest is expected with the completion of harvesting. Pine prices have remained unchanged, though their low level has caused many of the smaller plants to curtail operations.

West coast fir mills did a big business during the week ended June 26, orders exceeding the cut by nine percent, as many buyers wished to provide for their needs before the July Fourth shutdown. Orders from the middle West were especially heavy and there was also a large volume from the Atlantic coast. Mixed cars have been bringing good prices, but the market as a whole has not advanced from its low level.

Hardwood producers have been encouraged by the reentrance of furniture buyers into the market, as their absence, due largely to slow sales of furniture at retail, has been a depressing influence. During the week ended June 26, the southern mills booked a volume of orders in excess of their production, though this was at one of the highest points on record, but it is believed that the gain was at the expense of prices. The northern mills have held prices more firmly and their bookings for the week were light.

Heavy Expense Is Chief Trouble Of U. S. Farmer

Babson Park, Mass.—In view of the crop reports coming from the central west, Roger W. Babson has been making a special study of the conditions of crops and the farmer. In connection with his conclusions, Mr. Babson comments on the political situation with its effects on business and investments.

"First, let me say that the crop situation is not nearly as bad as the headlines in the papers would make it out to be. It is true that the spring wheat is below the ten year average; but winter wheat, owing to the larger acreage planted, may exceed last year's production. The crops differ, some showing an improvement over last year, and others showing a decline. It is too early to make any definite forecasts regarding corn or potatoes; but apples, peaches, pears, grapes and most other fruits should have a good year. So much for the general crop situation as a whole. Not only will there probably be fairly good production, but, owing to foreign conditions, the total value of the crops for 1926 should compare favorably with 1925.

"When one studies definite localities, however, he finds the country very 'spotty.' Certain sections are doing well while other sections are doing poorly. South Dakota and adjoining sections, which had considerable improvement in conditions a year ago, is again in trouble. I believe that the farmers of South Dakota feel even more discouraged today than their northern neighbors did a few years ago at the height of their radicalism. Although then suffering from poor crops, yet the latter were hopeful that certain sociologic experiments would bring them safely through. They started state grain elevators, farmers' banks and other experiments, but these failed. Hence the northwestern farmers today are not only up against a bad agricultural situation, but have no remedy in mind to stimulate them for the years to come. This same situation is spreading to Iowa, Nebraska, Oklahoma, and other states. Although we may see no immediate economic solution for the farmers' troubles, these troubles nevertheless are very real. Were we in the shoes of the average western farmer we would be radicals ourselves.

HIGH EXPENSES THE TROUBLE
The farmers have not been bothered with droughts and pests as in old days. Crop failures, such as occurred in the nineties, have not been the cause of their troubles. The good work of Agricultural Departments, both federal and state, and that of agricultural colleges, agricultural journals, etc., have caused farmers to diversify their crops and farm more intelligently. Moreover, the prices which they receive for the crops are fairly good. Of course, the prices of crops today, with all Europe farming, do not compare with prices of crops when all the people of Europe were fighting. If, however, we eliminate the five years of the war, we will find that prices of today compare very well with a ten or twenty year average of either cereals or other commodities such as coal, copper, lead, etc. The farmers' troubles are not due to either crop failures or low prices.

"The farmers' troubles are due to the fact that their expenses have increased more in the past ten years than their income. During the war the farmers' cost of production was suddenly raised to a much higher basis. Since the war the income has dropped off, but the cost of production has kept up. There is no question but that today the farmers have very little net income and many are operating at a loss. The difficulty, however, is not with the quality of the crop or the price received, but the trouble is due to increased operating expenses. These increased expenses apply not only to the farmer, but to the consumer.

changed, though their low level has caused many of the smaller plants to curtail operations. West coast fir mills did a big business during the week ended June 26, orders exceeding the cut by nine percent, as many buyers wished to provide for their needs before the July Fourth shutdown. Orders from the middle West were especially heavy and there was also a large volume from the Atlantic coast. Mixed cars have been bringing good prices, but the market as a whole has not advanced from its low level.

Hardwood producers have been encouraged by the reentrance of furniture buyers into the market, as their absence, due largely to slow sales of furniture at retail, has been a depressing influence. During the week ended June 26, the southern mills booked a volume of orders in excess of their production, though this was at one of the highest points on record, but it is believed that the gain was at the expense of prices. The northern mills have held prices more firmly and their bookings for the week were light.

EDUCATING GIRLS IS UNPOPULAR IN GERMANY

Berlin (AP)—Coeducation in Germany is still far behind that in state universities of the United States, the Prussian ministry of education reports. Despite the relatively high position of women in politics, the report continues, the people cling to the idea that a university education is unnecessary for a girl.

STEEL BUSINESS IS KEEPING UP

Heavy Orders Received by Many Mills During July 4 Holidays

Cleveland, Ohio.—Iron Trade Review says: Following the stimulated buying activity in June, new business in steel since the turn of the halfyear is showing a normal relaxation to which the holiday of the Fourth has contributed its quieting influence. In the week prior to July 1, however, the market witnessed a continuation of the heavy flow of incoming tonnage which was due in large part to buyers availing themselves of outstanding quotations rendered more attractive by the recent course of events. With some producers this tonnage of the last week was the largest for any similar period in months. Practically all these open orders now have been driven in. The situation at present is that the mills find themselves in possession of better volume of orders for shipment over the next 30 to 60 days in addition to a considerable amount of provisional tonnage on a higher level of prices, which to become liquid must be specified against during the next 30 to 60 days. How these contracts will be drawn out, therefore, in large measure will determine the firm establishment of the price advances recently quoted.

Additional orders for pig iron placed during the week total approximately 290,000 tons. With five weeks of buying movement elapsed, the total booked by furnace interests is between 1,450,000 and 1,500,000 tons. Advent of the third quarter finds finished steel prices considerably better stabilized than in the past three months. Although price predictions still are out in some quarters, on overpriced tonnage bars and shapes are established at 2.00, Pittsburgh and plates at 1.90 for third quarter business.

First half car buying shows betterment over 1925. Passenger car awards totaled over 900 and freight cars 40,068. This compares with 450 for passenger and 25,815 for freight cars in the same period of 1925.

Finished steel buying is steady featured by the award of three Great Lakes ore-freighters each taking 5000 tons. A pipe line from Amarillo, Tex. to Kansas City, on which alternate plans have just been proposed, involves 475 miles of 20-inch pipe or 100,000 tons of steel.

Steel works operations, generally are lower, following the Fourth of July holiday. Valley mills are operating at 60 per cent compared with 73 percent last week.

Steadiness in the market is reflected in Iron Trade Review composite of 14 leading iron and steel products at $37.74, the same as the preceding week.

Iron, Trade Review.

LOCAL MAN IMPROVES HAIRPIN MACHINES

A. E. Welssborn, vice president of the Scolding Locks Hairpin company, is the inventor of an improved wire feeding mechanism, which is now in use by this concern.

The improvement has doubled the output of each hairpin machine, as well as adding greatly to the pointing and perfect forming of hairpins. This is only one of many improvements Mr. Welssborn has made on the machines during the last several years. Other improvements to effect more economic production, are being planned.

For more than two months the Scolding Locks company has been unable to keep up with orders, even though operating on a 24 hour basis. Demand for invisible pins, used principally by girls with bobbed hair, is constantly increasing, and the output of the local plants for the first six months of this year shows an increase of more than 100 per cent as compared with the first six months of 1925.

"SHORT-CUT" TO SHAWANO BETTER THAN MAIN ROAD

Three Detours on Highway 47 Make Traveling Difficult

Those "palefaces" who desire to see Indians in action elsewhere than in the movies—but with as little danger to themselves—may take a motor hike to Keshena, where the descendants of the first Americans will initiate them into the mysteries of the pow-wow. Chief Oshkosh has declared that the entertainment Sunday afternoon is planned especially for the people of Appleton.

Little discomfort will be experienced by those who plan to take a short cut, and at the same time avoid the heavier traffic, by traveling over county trunk "B" from Shiocton to Leeman and then northwest over a short stretch of 156 to the junction with county trunk "B" in Shawano, and then north on 47 and 55 to Keshena. County road "B" in Outagamie-co is reported fair, but there are occasional sandy places over the same road in Shawano-co. The Indian program includes the shooting of the Keshena Falls rapids on the Wolf river by a 60-year-old Indian in a canoe, and a game of lacrosse.

CHERRYLAND TRIPS
Cherryland in the Door-co peninsula also will attract many motorists who desire to see the fruit in the final stages of ripening. The cherries will not be ready for picking until next Thursday, according to report. The trip is a pleasant one, however, and offers a maximum of comfort in travel with pleasant surroundings. Highway 78 is good all the way, but the detour near Sturgeon Bay is still in effect. It is in good condition, as is the detour by way of county trunk north from Brussels and then east to Sturgeon Bay.

Highway 54 to Algoma and then 17 north to Sturgeon Bay also offer a good, although a somewhat longer, route to Cherryland.

Recent rains have benefited the roads of the state, rather than obstructed travel, as they have settled the dust somewhat and have changed trees and meadows from a rather lifeless gray to a fresh green again. Thousands of cars last Sunday and Monday stirred up dust clouds which covered the surrounding country. Unless there are unusually heavy downpours Saturday afternoon or Sunday, the roads will be in exceptionally good condition.

THREE DETOURS

There are three detours in effect between Brantford and Black Creek on highway 47. The last of these, south of Brantford near the county line, is reported to offer rough travel, and is about six miles in length. The second detour is longer, but not as rough, and is west of the highway, while the third is in the village of Black Creek. Altogether, this road from Black Creek to the county line is about the poorest in this part of the state. It should be in fine condition, however, when the road is again open to travel. Work was begun this week on the new stretch of concrete from the end of the present concrete in Seymour to the fairgrounds. Kimberly-ave in Kimberly is also partly closed to traffic while a stretch is under construction, and 55 is partly closed to traffic in the city of Kaukauna. Highway 25 at New London is closed, as it has been for more than a week, will be for the next several weeks.

With exception of those oh 47, all detours within the county are in fairly good condition, according to A. G. Brusewitz, county highway commissioner. Highway 151 provides a good detour for the heavy traffic between Appleton and Neenah, but it is beginning to show signs of wear.

All county trunk guides will be restenciled during the next few weeks in Outagamie-co, and indications are that a number of the county roads will be given new letters. To avoid confusion, as few changes as possible will be made however.

KINSMAN SPEAKS AT CONVENTION

Lawrence College Man Gives Address at Meeting of Jewelers in Green Bay

Green Bay, Wis. —(AP)—The Wisconsin Retail Jewelers' association will meet here July 13 and 14 for its twenty-first annual state convention.

The convention will be called to order by H. F. Vandenberg, president. Conrad Brothert, of Newark, N. J., president of the American National Retail Jewelers association; W. R. Cooper, Minneapolis, president of the National Wholesale Jewelers association; and Prof. D. O. Kinsman, of Lawrence college will speak during the afternoon of the first day.

The annual session of the policyholders of the National Jewelers Mutual Fire Insurance company will be held Wednesday with W. H. Upmeyer, Milwaukee, presiding. Three new officers will be elected. R. P. Williams, of Chicago, will discuss "Casualty Insurance for Jewelers."

Prof. Fay H. Elwell, of Madison, will speak on "Ethics in Business," and Arthur B. Chasman, Oshkosh, on "Barbery Prevention." The meeting will adjourn after the election of the officers and the selection of the meeting place for next year.

More than 300 persons are expected to attend the convention.

Dance, Hampel's Sat. Nite.

"Scholarships" Created For Students In Prison

Madison—(AP)—Sociology students at the University of Wisconsin are attempting to place before convicts a life of usefulness instead of crime, when they leave the prison.

Function of the prisoners by the university instead of by "teachers" of crime is the aim of members of Prof. J. L. Gillin's sociology classes. For this purpose, they have created a fund of $152 to provide correspondence "scholarships" for prisoners who wish to take university studies by mail.

The fund was started last year by Professor Gillin's class in "Poverty

WILD WEST SHOW GETS LICENSE TO COME INTO CITY

Miller Brothers 101 Ranch Outfit Will Show Here on Aug. 5

Appleton will get quite a variety of outdoor entertainment this summer, for in addition to the Sells Floto circus and a carnival which will show here this season, the Miller Brothers 101 Ranch wild west show will be in the city Aug. 5. An advance agent of the show obtained a license to play here Friday morning at the office of E. L. Williams, city clerk.

The 101 Ranch is the first strictly wild west show to exhibit in the city since 1917 when the same company showed here. Since then, however, the show has been greatly enlarged and now carries about 600 people. One of the features of the show will be a group of Cossack riders.

The headquarters of the show is at Marland, Okla. The Miller brothers own about 100,000 acres near that city and have divided the vast tract into 101 ranches. It is from this that the show was given its name of 101 Ranch Wild West show.

Tents and equipments of the company will be set up on W. Spencer at near the plant of the Appleton Chair Co.

CALL MEETING TO STUDY PLAN FOR IMPROVING ROAD

Merchants and Lake Residents Get Together to Discuss New Project

Appleton persons who own cottages on the north shore of Lake Winnebago and a number of leading merchants of the city will meet at 9:30 Tuesday morning at the Appleton Chamber of Commerce office to discuss plans for permanently improving highway 18 from the south city limits to the junction with highway 114, about a block north of Waverly beach. About 75 letters have been sent from the chamber of commerce office to lake residents inviting them to the gathering.

At a meeting of the chamber of commerce road and bridge committee Friday the matter of improvement of highway 18 was discussed and it was decided to call together the people who get the most use of the road to determine whether they would help finance paving the stretch. A pavement 20 feet wide was proposed.

Highway 18, which is now being used as a detour for highway 15 to Neenah is in a deplorable condition especially for the first mile and a half south of the city limits. The road is full of holes and the loose gravel and crushed stone imperil motorists who use the highway.

PAYS $1 FINE FOR MAKING LEFT TURN

James Garvey, 403 S. Cherry-st., pleaded guilty Saturday morning in municipal court of making a left turn, contrary to traffic regulations, at the corner of College-ave and Oneida-st. He paid a fine of $1 and costs of $3.20 to Judge Fred V. Heilmann of county court, who occupied the municipal court bench in the absence of Judge Theodore Berg, who was not in the city Saturday morning.

GUARD MEN DEPART FOR CAMP SATURDAY

Members of Co. D, 127th Infantry, Wisconsin National Guard, entrained at 8 o'clock Saturday morning for the annual 15-day encampment at Camp Douglas. Machine guns and carriers which the men will use at camp also were shipped Saturday.

STUNT PROGRAM FOR LIONS CLUB MEETING

A stunt program has been arranged for the meeting of the Lions club Monday noon at Conway hotel. "Fun and Frolic, Gags and Puns" is the way the weekly letter reads. William Montgomery will give the attendance prize.

Violinists sometimes have two violins so that they may give one of the instruments a rest occasionally, since the instrument is one of the most delicate made.

and Dependency." The money is administered as a loan fund correspondence fees paid from it to be repaid by the convict beneficiaries if possible. Inmates to whom loans shall be made are selected in conference with prison officials by representatives of the correspondence study department who visit the state prison at Wau-pun and the reformatory at Green Bay.

Almost since the beginning of the correspondence study service, university instructors say, some lessons have been sent to convicts. Approximately 350 have taken courses many paying for the courses with money earned by extra labor within the prison.

Reports of the visiting agents during the fiscal year ending June 30, show that 26 prisoners at Wau-pun completed courses, 48 still are studying and 20 dropped their courses. At Green Bay, 8 completed courses 27 still are studying and 3 dropped their studies.

The percentage of prisoners who complete their courses is 55 per cent, as compared with 66.7 percent for all students who take correspondence study. The prisoner's record is better than that of all students taking vocational courses, the latter completing only 40 per cent of the courses subscribed for.

Inmate students pay the same fee and are governed by the same study standards as other extension students. The university, however, sends an instructor at regular intervals to interview the inmates and help them with their lessons.

200 EXPECTED AT M. E. VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL

Ten Teachers in Charge of Classes Which Open Next Monday

More than 200 children are expected to attend the Daily Bible school of First Methodist church which will open July 19 and close Aug. 6. Classes will meet every morning from 9 to 12 o'clock in the Sunday school room of the church. Miss Esther Miller, secretary of the church will have charge of the school. She will be assisted by ten teachers.

Lessons in daily living will be stressed at the school. These classes will consist of instruction in thoughtfulness, courtesy, cooperation, happiness and clean thoughts and tongues.

Other classes will be conducted in Bible study, story telling, with missionary and Bible stories. Hymns will be studied with the aid of pictures and stories.

HERE'S CHANCE TO LEARN HOW TO PLAY IN BAND
Eight Appleton high school students, will be given musical instruments use free of charge if they wish to become members of the Appleton high school band, according to Carl McKee director.

The director said there are two trombones, two cornets, two E flat bass horns, one alto horn and one baritone horn at the high school which would be given to any high school student to use, and free instruction would be given and the students would be allowed to join the high school band in fall.

Mr. McKee will conduct two classes each week during vacation in band instruction, so that the students who receive the instruments will be proficient enough by fall to join the band. Graduates of the junior high schools who are just entering the senior school will be given preference, according to Mr. McKee.

Anyone desiring further information regarding the instruments should call Mr. McKee.

HOW I IMPROVED MY HEALTH

Did It in Less Than One Month

As Mrs. Weaver herself says, "I was never very strong." This is a mild statement describing her condition, for according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it.

"After three or four weeks," writes Mrs. Weaver, "I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Lawrence Weaver, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you knew that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial?

PEOTTER GETS THROUGH WITH CITY ASSESSING

Assessor Completes Field Work and Starts Checking Records

Assessment of property in the city will be completed Saturday by George Peotter, city assessor. The board of review will meet about the middle of August to go over the assessment and hear complaints of property owners. In the meantime the assessor will compare his assessments with those of a year ago, checking the results and recopying.

Those who have built new homes during the last year or others who are curious to know what their property is assessed at may call Mr. Peotter at the city hall.

About 75 per cent of the automobile owners, who received cards from the assessor asking for detailed information on the type of car owned have replied, according to Mr. Peotter.

WILL CONTINUE TO BUILD MILL ON HIGHWAY 151

Stockholders Vote to Complete Construction of Valley Paper Mills

Plans to continue the construction of the plant of the Valley Paper Mills on state highway 151 in the town of Menasha are to be worked out by the new board of directors, according to a resolution adopted by the stockholders of the company. In the resolution the stockholders instructed the directors to collect all outstanding notes and accounts, and ordered that all promotion stock, amounting to $35,000, be canceled.

Financial difficulties caused the company to discontinue work on the mill after the foundation had been laid in 1921. About $350,000 of stocks is subscribed and there is about $120,000 still outstanding in notes, according to a statement to stockholders issued by the board of directors. The site and foundation of the mill cost about $70,000.

Officers of the Valley Paper Mills are H. H. Held, Neenah, president; E. C. Koepke, Appleton, vice president; William F. Wolf, Appleton, secretary; Alfred Gauke, Appleton, treasurer. Other members of the board of directors, besides the officers, are Ed Defnet, Neenah; John Jaacks, Kaukauna; George T. Wolf, Theresa.

ROSEBUSH PLEADS FOR RIGHT TO BUILD DAM

Madison—(AP)—The applications of the Northern Paper Mills for permission to erect two dams in the Menominee river about 10 miles east of Appleton, Wis., were given a brief formal hearing before the state railroad commission Friday.

The commission heard testimony regarding the plans for the dams, but the details were not made public, pending action on the projects. The applications comply with the recapture clause of the water power act, whereby the state is granted the right to buy the dams at the end of thirty years for the original value. Previous applications were dismissed because of omission of the recapture provision. Judson G. Rosebush, president of the paper mills company, represented it at the hearing.

Seeds of white clover have been known to germinate after 25 years of dormancy, but only a few grass species show any life after seven or eight years.

HOW I IMPROVED MY HEALTH

Did It in Less Than One Month

As Mrs. Weaver herself says, "I was never very strong." This is a mild statement describing her condition, for according to her letters, she was subjected to no small amount of ill health. Fortunately, her sister was familiar with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and begged Mrs. Weaver to try it.

"After three or four weeks," writes Mrs. Weaver, "I felt a great difference in myself. I would go to bed and sleep sound, and although I could not do very much work, I seemed stronger. I kept on taking it and now I am well and strong, do my work and take care of three children. I sure do tell my friends about your wonderful medicine, and I will answer any letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Lawrence Weaver, East Smithfield St., Mt. Pleasant, Pa.

If you knew that thousands of women suffering from troubles similar to those you are enduring had improved their health by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, wouldn't you think it was worth a trial?

A Matter of Time

WHEN you first met one of the people now your friends, he was only a face and a name. You saw him oftener, listened to him, learned what he was doing, what his friends thought of him...claimed him yourself as friend. It was only a matter of time.

It is only a matter of time before you will also claim as friend many a product which advertising is introducing to you. It may be a truer watch, a quieter door-closer, a longer wearing silk stocking, a better oil for your car. If you notice more in the advertisement than just appearance and name, you may want to be friends at once. You will learn what the product means to others and can helpfully mean to you. Advertisements tell you frankly all that makes a product friendly. Qualities, mannerisms ---what the watch, door-closer, oil is in the habit of doing. Advertisements make you acquainted before you give the product your faith. Since you choose your friends often, why not keep your choice wise?

Advertisements give you trustworthy friends that may prove indispensable to you

BY ERNEST LYNN, AUTHOR OF THE YELLOW STUB

BEGIN HERE TODAY
JOHN and FAY MILDURN buy a house when the baby girl is born and the advertising agency in which John is partner and copy writer lands a new contract. Among their acquaintances are—

NOEL and VERA BOYD, whose marriage is strictly "modern."

PAT and MARIAN FORBES, who have three children and whose marriage is unhappy because of Pat's roving tendencies. Previous chapters told how:

John was fascinated on meeting NELL ORME, of whom Pat Forbes hints that she is having trouble with her husband. When Fay took Judith, the baby, to Chicago to visit her parents, John "ran around" a good deal, mostly with Pat Forbes.

When Fay returned, gossip had retailed some of John's doings and greatly exaggerated them. Sharp quarrels between him and Fay followed. She is always fearful that he will get into trouble, but she thinks she just misunderstands him.

One of these quarrels drives him "out on a tear," and when Fay learns that he has again been out with other women she threatens to leave him if it repeats. He begins to think that Fay dislikes him. He becomes aware that he is being talked about. DICK MENEFEE, his best friend, gives him some advice, and NAT GRAM, his business partner, is sharply critical. John is filled with resentment, feeling that the whole world is suddenly against him.

Fay breaks with a neighbor because of a piece of malicious gossip, and John is so loyal that it looks as if he had again reached an understanding.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY (The names and situations in this story are fictitious.)

CHAPTER XL
In John's defense it must be said that he came from the next day feeling irritable and out of sorts. Otherwise it might not have happened.

Fay was feeding Judith a bowl of cooked cereal when he arrived home. "Lo, honey," he said briefly, kissing her, and bent over to pinch Judith's fat little cheeks.

Fay regarded Judith tenderly. "This little lady got me in trouble today," she remarked lightly.

Something far more serious underlay her words, and if he had not been preoccupied he would have noticed it.

"Yeah," he remarked. "I was out to see Georgia McAvoy this afternoon."

"Yeah? Nice couple, the McAvoy's. How's their youngster?"

"Charles? He's fine." She was silent a moment, then, "John," she said, "I don't think I'll ever have anything to do with Georgia McAvoy again."

"Now what's the matter?" he burst out in annoyance. "Can't you succeed in remaining friends with anyone?"

"John," her lips quivered. "Well, what's the matter? By golly, the way you women carry on over trifles makes me disgusted."

"What's come over you? You don't act this way last night."

He didn't answer. Instead, he stuck his hands in his pockets and looked moodily out of the window.

"Aren't you interested?" she asked, asked.

"Sure. What happened?"

Fay, wearing a hurt expression, said, "I never saw such a frightful temper in all my life as Georgia exhibited this afternoon."

"Oh, come now, Fay, she's all right. You've been upset; that's what's the matter with you."

"John, why don't you let me tell you what happened?"

"Well, for heaven's sake, go ahead and tell me. I'm listening." He was still staring out of the window.

Fay looked at him doubtfully, an expression of pain in her eyes. Then she said, "Judith and Charles were playing together on Georgia's lawn and Judith pushed little Charles over. She didn't mean any harm, but if you'd seen the way Georgia turned on her, John, she didn't mean any harm."

"Eh?" he turned around to look at her "what do you mean?"

"She grabbed hold of Judith and said 'look here, don't you ever do that again! You need a good spanking, that's what you need.' As if Judith knew any better. She's just a baby, John—she didn't mean any harm."

"Well, what did you do?"

"I scolded Judith," told her she shouldn't have pushed Charles down. Then I took her home."

"Why didn't you give Georgia a piece of your mind?"

"Thank goodness, I have better control of my temper than she has. If she wants to make an exhibition of herself, all right."

"Oh, you didn't handle it right, at all. Why don't you strike back at people if they hurt you?"

"Well," said Fay tearfully, "what could I say to her? I never saw a person lose control of herself the way she did. I hadn't any idea she was so hot-headed. Honestly, I thought for a moment she would strike Judith down."

John laughed. "Oh, it wasn't that bad, Fay."

"It was, I tell you," she cried.

"Well, why didn't you tell her she ought to be ashamed of herself for talking to a little baby that way?"

"You know what I'd have told her—'It was really as bad as you say it was.'"

"What?"

"I'd have said, 'Well, Georgia, Judith can't protect herself. Go ahead and hit her.'"

"You never see my side of things at all," Fay said bitterly.

"Don't see your side of things? Why don't I? But by golly, if I ran to you every time something came up during the day to annoy me I'd be running to you all the time."

"Well, just the same, I'm through with Georgia McAvoy."

"And I can only say I'm darned sorry to hear it. She's a good scout, and so is her husband. I suppose you want me to refuse to speak to Fred if I see him on the street after this."

She had wanted his comfort, his support. Instead, she found him unsympathetic, scoffing. She said angrily, "I suppose it would have been all right with you if she had struck Judith."

"Oh," he answered impatiently. "You exaggerate things, Fay. We all say things we're sorry for. Doubtless Georgia feels pretty mean over it, if she really lost her temper. I think it's downright silly to get in a row over a couple of babies."

Fay's angry eyes shot him a quick look. Then, gathering Judith up in her arms, she left the room. "I hope you'll enjoy your dinner," she called back to him. "You're going to eat it alone."

He stood regarding her retreating figure in blank amazement. "Now what in the hell have I done?" he said aloud.

Of such trivial incidents is trouble born. Fay had needed, had expected his sympathy and had not found it, and of late things seemed to be working to put her temper on edge.

Pat and Marian Forbes invited them to a party at their summer place, and the evening was almost ruined for both of them because of the presence of the Boyds and Eleanor Mason. Paul Davidson was there, too, for which John breathed a sigh of relief, and later on the Ormes came in, and at sight of Nell he felt a warm thrill running through him.

If he had not felt so guilty about Eleanor Mason he might have been amused at the restraint between Eleanor and Fay. He saw Fay stiffen at first sight of the fluffy haired blond and heard Eleanor say, "Oh, John, it's so unusual to see you and John together."

Two tiny spots of red glowed in Fay's cheeks. "That's because I haven't thought he required watching," she retorted and passed on to talk to Marian Forbes. Eleanor Mason gave a careless little shrug of her pretty shoulders and then turned around to John.

"Fine one, you are," she accused, but he murmured something about having to see Pat Forbes and went to join that worthy in the kitchen where much noise was being made over cracked ice.

"Lo, John, come to help me?" Pat greeted him.

"No just to escape the Boyds and Eleanor Mason."

Pat grinned. "Don't know as I blame you. Cheer up, though. Nell Orme will be over pretty soon. He watched John narrowly to observe the effect of this announcement.

"Glad to hear it. How are they getting along?"

"Rotten, I hear. Marian heard they had had a pretty bitter fight recently. I wouldn't be surprised to see them split up some day."

John heard the front door open, heard Nell Orme's low-pitched, laughing voice and presently observed her moving through the dining room with Marian.

"Hello there," he called, and at sight of him she walked over to the kitchen door way and extended her hand. He tingled at the pressure of her fingers, but she did not linger, being towed away by Marian.

Back on the front porch, John found himself stiffening angrily at sight of Noel Boyd's cynical grin, and Vera kept regarding him with a sort of hang-dog expression in her eyes. Fay, he noted, had been taken over by Paul Davidson, and he heard her laughter coming from their corner of the porch, and noticed that Eleanor Mason kept eyeing them.

"Oh-hoh," he laughed to himself. "Fay's paying the young lady back now. Saves her right."

Someone said, "At eleven o'clock we're going in swimming." It was Pat.

"Why wait?" asked Eleanor Mason and Paul Davidson called over to her. "Hush, Eleanor, have you no romance about you?"

John slipped inside to get the package of cigarettes he had left in the kitchen. He heard a slight noise on the back porch and his heart gave a little jump: it was Nell Orme.

"What are you doing out here all by yourself?" he asked, slipping out beside her.

"I was admiring the moon," Nell answered with a smile.

"But I am luckier than you, for I have two things to admire." He grinned.

"Really, now, that's very bad," she reproached. "You're capable of much better." She turned away, gazing absently at the little lake shimmering in the hazy moonlight. She looked rather forlorn, and the recollection of the tight-lipped Howard Orme and what Pat had said about a quarrel moved him to sympathy. Things in his own household were getting on his nerves; he felt sudden companionship for this beautiful girl.

He stood for some time beside her without saying a word, mentally comparing her with Fay, wondering whether he and Fay were really in love with each other or whether, like Marian and Pat, they were sticking it out because of the child.

"I wonder," he said to her, "if you know what a beautiful picture you make out here beneath that moon?"

He raised his hand toward the sky. "Forgive me," he added quickly at her frown. "I'm really not trying to flirt. It just sort of had to come out."

He brought his hand down to the porch railing and it accidentally touched her own. She gave no sign that she felt it and he left it stay.

"Are you going in swimming?" he asked her.

"Are you?"

"If you do. Will you race me again?"

"Do you think you can beat me?"

"No, but it would be wonderful to try again."

She laughed—that mellow, full-throated laugh of hers, and the sound of it, like vibrant music, thrilled him to his very finger tips.

Suddenly he wanted to take this woman in his arms and press her to him. He felt his heart pounding against his ribs, felt to hold her would be to ease both of their troubled souls. What right had Howard Orme, he raged inwardly, to crush this beautiful thing? What right had Fay to make him so unhappy?

Her Own Way.

A STORY OF A GIRL OF TODAY

FATHER YIELDS
"Don't shake your head, Dad," I said, when I noticed his disapproval of my going away. "I can take care of myself. After last night you ought to realize it. That should show you that I do not have to have a chaperone or adviser. Dad, you might just as well come around to it. Girls of Mother's time and the girls today are more than a generation apart. This is a fast age and youth has moved as rapidly as does the radio or the aeroplane or other inventions and discoveries of the last few years. We speak a different language today, Dad, in which the words individuality and independence take the place of dependence and reverence of older opinion. Give me a little money, Dad—half of what you would have given to my brother if I had had one, and let me go to Chicago and work out my own salvation."

Dad looked at Mother who had quietly come into the room a few minutes before. In his face there was a curious blending of fear and relief. He had realized that if I stayed at home, he would have a somewhat humiliating explanation to make to Charles Becker, as usual when in a tight place he turned to Mother.

"What do you think, Susan?" he said, "you can keep in touch with her, can't you?" Then and there putting the responsibility upon his wife. "Why, of course, Jason, I'll go with her and get settled," said Mother brightly.

"That won't do at all, Mother. You'll do nothing of the kind. If I go, I'll go alone. I want to pull this off all by my lonesome."

By this time, evidently my father had come to the conclusion that he had been making a great mistake if, by giving me a chance and sending me away from the gossip of the town for a while he could get out of the whole mess, it was quite the best thing to do. I will say this for my father. Once decided, he put a thing through.

He walked over to my mother's desk and wrote me a check for two hundred and fifty dollars. This seemed to me, who had never had in all my life before more than ten dollars I could call my own untold wealth, but I schooled myself to act very calm and casual as I took the check from his hand. Was I mistaken, or did his hand tremble? Anyway, I could not help but notice that my mother was sobbing.

"Thank you, sir," I said, "and I want you to trust me. I'll make good. You'll be as proud of me yet as though I were a boy."

TOMORROW: Winning.

WALSH ENTERS FINAL PLAY IN NATIONAL OPEN

APPLETON STAR SCORES 83 FOR TOTAL OF 159

Bill Mehlhorn Still Leads Field With 143; Joe Turnesa Is Second

FRANK WALSH, Appleton's representative in the national open golf championship meet in progress at the Scioto Country club, Columbus, O., remained in the running for final play for the title Saturday by counting an 83 Friday in the second round of play. This score, added to his 76 of the preceding day, gave him a total of 159, just enough to place him in the select list of those who will complete the tournament. Players finishing the first 36 holes with scores higher than 159 were barred from further competition.

A bad trip on the first nine holes Friday, when he scored a 45, prevented Walsh from turning in a card near 100. He did the last nine in seven less strokes.

Walsh made the best showing of the three players from this state entered in the tourney. Jack Blakeslee, Kenosha, and Francis Gallet, Milwaukee, ended play Friday with a count of 162 each. Both shot a 79 Friday, but a bad 83 on the first day eliminated them from final competition.

As he is trailing Bill Mehlhorn, Chicago, by 16 strokes, Walsh's chance of copping the national open championship appears almost hopeless, for it is practically impossible to recover that many strokes in only 36 holes. According to tourney reports, however, he has been hitting the ball in great fashion, and has a good opportunity of finishing high among the leaders.

IN FINAL PLAY

Columbus, O. — Sixty-two golfers Saturday remained in the competition for the national open championship at Scioto Country club out of a record field of 151, as a result of the two rounds of Thursday and Friday, and they were ready to fight it out over 36 holes for the supremacy of American golf.

These golfers, who won an excursion of their hotel reservations by scoring 159 or better, were headed by Bill Mehlhorn of Chicago, who had tallied 68-75-143 for the first two rounds. His recession of seven strokes Friday from the record 68 he chalked up Thursday, was out done by his nearest contender in the initial circuit, for Bobby Jones, American amateur and British open titleholder, slipped nine blows from his good 70, totalling 149. This placed Jones in a tie for sixth place with Jack Forrester of New York, who had the best score Friday, a 78. Jones played many holes in par but two penalties and a seven on the 18th, with a five on a par three hole, upset him.

The Atlanta's place next to Mehlhorn was assumed by Joe Turnesa of New York, who had 71-74-145, with Dan Williams of the same city one stroke below. New York also claimed fourth and fifth places through George McLean and Leo Diegel, tied at 148.

Next to Jones and Forrester stood a quintet of stars, any one of whom from the 150 mark might win the title with a spurt Saturday. This galaxy was composed of Walter Hagen of Pasadena, Fla., Chick Evans of Chicago, who set an unbeaten record of 286 for this event in 1916, William Klein, New York, Al Espinosa of Chicago and John Hunter, Portland, Ore., Northwest Open titleholder, who scored a fine 70 in the first round but slipped Friday.

MACFARLANE IN RUNNING

Just below this dozen, with 150 or better, stood the defending champion, William MacFarlane, of New York, tied at 151 with Eddie Murphy of Chicago.

Saturday's scores are to be added to those of the first two rounds for the final awards.

Following are the leading scorers: Bill Mehlhorn, Chicago, 35 39 75-143; John Golden, New York, 35 39 74-153; Arthur Demaree, New York, 38 42 50-156.

Ralph Beach, Philadelphia, 40 40 80-130; Bob Cruikshank, New York, 40 35 76-152.

xHarrison R. Johnston, St. Paul, 36 40 75-155; George Smith, St. Paul, 37 42 70-154; Harry Hampton, Memphis, 35 37 75-156.

Frank T. Sprockell, Chicago, 38 37 75-156; Charles Hall, Birmingham, 40 39 79-158.

Frank Walsh, Appleton, Wis., 45 38 83-159; Clarence Manero, New York, 41 38 75-156.

xRobert H. Jones, Atlanta, 39 40 73-149.

SPAIN'S STAR

LILLI DE ALVAREZ

Over in Spain they are touting this young tennis queen as another Suzanne Lenglen following her great showing in the recent Wimbledon tournament. The Spanish girl remained in the running until the final round when she was defeated by the talented Mrs. Kitty McKane Godfree of England, 6-2, 4-6 and 6-3. She's easily the best woman player Spain has produced in some time.

BY JOE WILLIAMS

It is all very well to go into purple-tinted hysterics over the fighting heart of Walter Hagen, who has just staged another uphill climb to win a notable golf match from Abe Mitchell, one of Great Britain's finest runners.

But it does seem that a few casual remarks ought to be made somewhere along the line of eulogies concerning the American's actual ABILITY as a golfer.

From the boisterous manner in which his triumphs are habitually received, one would seem entitled to the opinion that Hagen's sole claim to prominence is due to the fact that he can be four down in a match and still smile.

The truth is this Rochester German is one of the finest all-round shot-makers the sport has ever known and is industriously and without reservation THE GREATEST PUTTER IN THE GAME.

There has been a lot of expert yipping about this player and that playing or possessing the perfect putting touch. There is still a legend in American golf that nobody puts as well or as beautifully as Francis Ouimet of Boston.

Undoubtedly there are a number of good putters in the game. There are a few great ones. But Hagen, we insist, is THE GREATEST. Most matches are won on the greens. Practically all of Hagen's are won there.

PUTTING SAVES HAGEN

It was Hagen's putter that overwhelmed Bobby Jones in the south last winter. It was his putter that enabled him to overcome a four-hole handicap and beat Mitchell in the recent match overseas.

Putting was the first phase of golf Hagen mastered. You may be interested in knowing that. He caddied in the Rochester district, and like most caddies, a putter was the first club he owned. It naturally followed that putting was the first stroke he perfected.

You may be interested further in knowing that as a teacher Hagen advised his pupils to learn with the putter first and then advance by degrees to the distance-getting clubs. His theory is that control of the ball is the first essential.

Hagen has a pair of remarkable eyes. I once heard them described as "yard-stick eyes." This is a tribute to his uncanny accuracy in judging distance, especially on the greens. When the stakes are large Hagen won't miss the cup more than an inch or so from any distance.

So often is Hagen behind in matches and tournaments, which in the final stages find him out in front leading the attack, that a popular suspicion exists that he actually prefers to let the other fellow get away in front. This certainly doesn't seem to bother him.

Yet I recall that he was genuinely happy when he finished eight or nine holes ahead of Jones in the first half of their match in Florida last winter.

Someone suggested that his position was unusual. "You'd probably feel more natural if you were three or four holes down, wouldn't you, Walter?" he was asked.

"Don't make me laugh," answered Hagen. "Anytime I can get the lead I'm going to take it. I wish I was 15 up on Bobby."

BALL FANS HIRE EXCURSION BOAT TO ATTEND GAME

More Than 200 Kimberly Bugs Expected to Attend Tilt at Oshkosh Sunday

Kimberly—More than 200 baseball fans of this village have chartered an excursion boat to take them to the Kimberly-Oshkosh baseball game at Oshkosh Sunday. The excursion is sponsored by the American Legion, and to date practically all tickets are sold. The boat will leave the Kimberly dock at 9:30, arriving at Oshkosh a little after noon. Fans will have plenty of time to get their lunch and make the ball park before game time, which is 2:30. The excursion crowd plus the mass of cars that will make the trip should give Kimberly fans quite a rooting section in the grandstand.

The first game of the season went into extra innings when Kimberly met the Oshkosh squad and was decided only when, with the bases full, Weed of Oshkosh was hit by a pitched ball to force in the winning run, the game ending 2 to 1. Len Smith looks like the likely choice on the mound for Kimberly after holding Green Bay to a two run score in 17 innings, his pitching stock took a decided jump.

Len has a fast one and his underhand delivery makes the hitting difficult for the best of them. Hartjes, the Kimberly mainstay in the catching line, will grab the pegs. Hartjes played through the Appleton and Green Bay games with a badly sprained ankle, but should be around again for the big battle with Oshkosh.

The local stock will take quite a jump, providing the second place team loses. Kimberly will then be well up among the leaders. Schell will work at first, Marty Lamers at second, Butch Thien at third and Geo. Vanderloop at short.

This is the lineup that proved so effective against Green Bay, and probably would have proven equally effective against Appleton. However, due to certain conditions, the local team was forced to play a patched up infield against Appleton, and suffered accordingly.

In the outfield Arnold Poccn, Cooke, Koll, Verbaten and H. Thien will hold sway. With baseball played as it was against Green Bay, the Kimberly team can stack up against any in the loop.

TWO RIVERS WILL SEE "BIG" MUNN IN ACTION

Two Rivers, — Two Rivers will jump into the sport tonight July 22 when Wayne "Big" Munn, American physical marvel, who became an overnight sensation by his defeat of Stan Zbyszko and Ed. Strangler Lewis, will be a headliner in a sport carnival consisting principally of wrestling and the giving of talks on physical training at Washington hall.

Promoter James Greenwood is sponsoring the show.

HEILMAN IN SLUMP

The ten leading hitters in the American league the past week shed no such upset as the senior circuit, the personnel remaining almost the same with but one notable change in position. Harry Heilmann, the veteran Detroit slugger, knocked but four safeties in the last seven games and dropped from third place to fifth. Ruth also suffered a slump, but held on to second place, behind Fothergill of Detroit, who made 11 hits in six games to boost his average from .424 to .435. Gehrig of the Chicago Cubs picked the pitchers for two round trips this week, passing Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals, who failed to add to his ten. Wilson has 11.

Leading National hitters in 40 or more games: Hargrave, Cincinnati, 41; Herman, Brooklyn, 37; Bressler, Cincinnati, 37; Christensen, Cincinnati, 35; Cuyler, Pittsburgh, 34; Trayner, Pittsburgh, 34; Hornsby, St. Louis, 33; E. Smith, Pittsburgh, 33; Roush, Cincinnati, 33; Frisch, New York, 32.

Leading American League hitters in 40 or more games: Fothergill, Detroit, 43; Ruth, New York, 38; Falk, Chicago, 37; Meusel, New York, 36; Heilmann, Detroit, 36; Burns, Cleveland, 35; Dugan, New York, 35; Mostil, Chicago, 35; Goslin, Washington, 34; E. Rice, Washington, 34.

Leibourneau of the Toledo American Association club, the circuit's leading base-stealer, dropped his specialty the past week in favor of leaning on the horsehide. He made 13 hits the past week, in six games, including two round trips, two triples and four doubles, so he didn't need to piff any sacks. Although he went from eighth place to second in the batting standings, Shulte of Milwaukee, the league leader, kept up almost his usual pace, adding ten hits to keep his average up to .405, fifteen points ahead of Leibourneau.

Duke Duncan, of Minneapolis, boosted his home run total one more, to fifteen, and collected several other bingles to creep into the first ten hitters of the league.

Richbourg, Milwaukee, the rival of Leibourneau as base stealing king of the league, added three the past week, making him 26, but he still is one short of the Mudden outfielder.

Yankees And Reds Holding Own In Major Ball Leagues As Season Enters Last Lap

Four Contenders in Both Leagues Are Bunching Closer Together

Chicago (AP)—The first real baseball weather of the season finds the Fourth of July league leaders in both of the major baseball circuits digressing in to preserve the tradition that the pennants follow the Independence Day standing of the Clubs. The four contenders are bunching up in each league, only two games apart in the National and three games apart in the American, but the New York Yankees and the Cincinnati Reds seem to be a little more than holding their own.

The Red's veteran pitching staff, particularly Eppa Rixey, Pete Donohue and Carl Mays, are among the first ten of the regular moundmen, and four of the first ten leading hitters in this week's baseball records are Redlegs.

The individual hero of the week with the willow, however, is Floyd Herman of Brooklyn, who jumped from eighth place to second among National League batters by slamming out 22 hits in the holiday crush of nine games. Seven of them were for extra bases. Hargrave, Cincinnati catcher, came back to the regulars, and is leading the League with 411 to Herman's 377 which was a gain of 42 points this week for the Dodger's first baseman.

Pete Donohue of the Reds leads the league both in total innings pitched and in total victories. Participating in 22 games he has won and lost six, while his teammate Rixey in games won and lost has the best record, having won seven and lost one.

Frankie Frisch of the Giants crept back into last place among the select ten hitters and also took the base-stealing leadership away from Cuyler, Pittsburgh, adding three this week to total 16, while Cuyler added none to his mark of 15.

Jack Wilson of the Chicago Cubs picked the pitchers for two round trips this week, passing Bottomley of the St. Louis Cardinals, who failed to add to his ten. Wilson has 11.

CONDUCT GOLF MEET FOR 50-YEAR-OLDS

A handicap tournament for men of 50 years and over is being conducted at the Riverview Country club Saturday afternoon. In addition to their regular handicap, all those entering the tournament are given one additional stroke for every year they exceed 50 years of age. A prize will be awarded the player turning in the lowest net score.

BREWERS WIN DEBATE, THEN TAKE BALLGAME

Raymond Carl Koly, whose chest measurements are slightly at variance with his pitching ability, suffered a personal dispute with Dandy Dave Dunforth and a 3 to 0 game to the Brewers collectively. The loss of dispute won't figure in the standings but the game will.

est change in the leading ten hitters dropping from fifth to eighth. Duncan crowded Hartley, Indianapolis catcher, out of the first ten. In spite of this, Indianapolis passed St. Paul for fifth place in team hitting.

The Colonels kept the league lead in team hitting, adding three points while Toledo added four, and St. Paul passed Indianapolis for fifth place. Louisville, however, were weak in the field, making 18 errors this week.

Dawson of Louisville rang up his ninth straight victory on the slab, but Eddie Man of Milwaukee has won thirteen games, having four losses against him. Orwoll of Milwaukee also gained another victory the past week to keep in second place among the regular twirlers.

Leading hitters in the American Association are: Shulte, Milwaukee, .405; Leibourneau, Toledo, .390; McMenemy, Milwaukee, .385; Brief, Milwaukee, .385; Veach, Toledo, .384; DeVormer, Louisville, .378; Reitterer, St. Paul, .378; Webb, Louisville, .370; Russell, Indianapolis, .359; Duncan, Minneapolis, .356.

LATZO AWARDED FIGHT ON FOUL

King of Welterweights Successfully Defends Title Against Challenger

New York (AP)—Pete Latzo, rugged ring product of Pennsylvania's coal region, remains king of the welterweights after defending his title successfully for the second time in 11 days.

The 23-year-old champion won on a foul from George Levine, New York challenger, Friday night at the Polo Grounds in a bout which ended suddenly at a time when the titleholder had his opponent in retreat under a bettering two fisted attack.

Many in the crowd of 25,000 failed to discern the low blow delivered by Levine and booed the champion as he sank to his knees, and again as he was carried by his handlers from the ring. Latzo's superiority, however, was convincing.

Levine's shrewdness and a clever left jab helped him stand off the champion at times but he was no match for his more rugged opponent when they came to close quarters.

SCHRAMM ORDERED TO REPORT TO MILWAUKEE

Fond du Lac—Louis J. Schramm, who pitched for Fond du Lac last year and has been twirling for Campbellsville in the Eastern Wisconsin League this season, has been ordered to report to the Milwaukee Brewers of the American Association by President Otto Berchardt. Schramm was signed by the Milwaukee club last fall and made the spring training trip this year.

Schramm was taken sick after the game at Campbellsville last Sunday. He is still confined to his bed at his home here and was unable to answer the call of the Milwaukee team, but will do so as soon as he recovers from an attack of the flu.

Old-Time Fighters Yawn • 3 Mandell Wins Crown

BY JOE WILLIAMS

Chicago—Three great lightweights of a bygone era sat at the ringside here the other rain-soaked afternoon and watched 23-year-old Sammy Mandell—known to the ring as Mandell—win the world lightweight championship from Rocky Kansas on points.

They were Packy McFarland, never a champion, but perhaps the most polished boxer the game has ever known between 135 and 145 pounds; Battling Nelson, whose durability are a writ in bronze on the scroll of Pistonia and Charlie White, whose blazing left hook seared the bellies of many a ring immortal.

It rather seemed that fate was rubbing it in in arranging a stage-setting when McFarland, Nelson and White served in the capacity of critics at what was at once the most colorful and tamiest battle in which the lightweight championship ever changed hands.

On the basis of what Mandell, the winner, and Kansas, the loser, disclosed in the fight—the fight that marked the rebirth of boxing in Illinois on a legalized scale after 25 years—the two of them would have been meat for any one of the three old-timers who sat and watched their feeble efforts.

Mandell has speed, an abundance of it, both in footwork and fistwork, but he will need more than speed to reign long as a champion even in this day when the caliber of opposition is limited in quality and in quantity.

For one thing, he must develop a

Funeral services will be held at 1:30 Monday afternoon from the home and at 2 o'clock at Mt. Olive Lutheran church with the Rev. R. E. Ziesemer in charge. Burial will be in the Greenville cemetery.

JOSEPH LINSMEYER

Word has been received by relatives of the death of Joseph Linsmeyer which occurred Thursday evening at his home in Alexandria, Ind. Mr. Linsmeyer formerly was a resident of this city. He left here about 25 years ago and went to the north end part of the state where he lived for several years before going to Alexandria. He is an uncle of Mrs. Gustave Keller, Sr. and Mrs. Nabbefeld of this city. The funeral was held Saturday morning at Alexandria.

ANTON VAN HIMBERGEN

Exhaustion from directing the Kimberly band at the homecoming picnic at Kaukauna on the extreme heat of July 4 and 5 is believed to have contributed to the illness which preceded the death of Anton Van Himbergen, 24, Kimberly, at 7 o'clock Friday evening. He was ill for four days. Van Himbergen became ill Tuesday following the two day celebration at Kaukauna.

He was born in Holland and came to this country in 1906 making his home in Kimberly. He was married in February, 1922, to Mrs. Anna Wellhouse. The survivors are his widow and five children, Anna, Anthony, Ervin, Earl and Mildred; his father, John Van Himbergen of Kimberly; two brothers, Harry of Kimberly and Alfonso of South Dakota; one sister, Mrs. John Tandy of Channahon.

Mr. Van Himbergen was a member of the American Legion and of the Holy Name society of Holy Name church. He had been director of the Little Chute band for the last two years.

A military funeral will be held at 9 o'clock Monday morning at Holy Name church at Kimberly. The Rev. A. Razmaker will conduct the services. Interment will be in Holy Name cemetery.

O'BRIEN OPENS CAMPAIGN FOR MANDELL FIGHT

Irish Scrappier Tackles Harry Kid Brown at Milwaukee Ball Park July 15

Milwaukee—The first gun in Tommy O'Brien's campaign to force a fight with Harry Kid Brown at Milwaukee Ball Park July 15 when the great Irish scrappier will tackle Harry Kid Brown of Philadelphia in the first outdoor show of the season. Tommy, who has just finished a sensational tour of the coast, is willing to bet $10,000 that he can stop Mandell within 10 rounds, and he promises to make it so hot for the titleholder that public clamor will force Mandell to give him the recognition he deserves.

By way of starting Tommy is not picking the softest fellow in the 135 pound division for Brown is one of the toughest lightweights in the east. He has met every 135 pounder of class in the country and holds decisions over such good boys as Joe Weitzner, Bud Christano, George Chaney, Mel Coogan, Nick Conlon and Al Delmont. He was shaded in a 10 round bout by Sid Terris but the scrap was so close that many of the critics declare Harry was entitled to a draw. At any rate it was a sizzling scrap all the way and the fans were up on their chairs at the finish.

Athletics Park, where the scrap will be staged, will be fitted up with all the trimmings of a big league fight arena for the show. Otto Borcher, owner of the park will spare no expense putting it in shape, and a lightning system will be installed which will make the ring visible from every point in the park.

Tom Andrews, who introduced popular prize shows to Milwaukee, is in charge of the festive extravaganza and as usual he will have plenty of seats within reach of everyone's pocketbook. The highest price seats will go for $3 and there will be 1,000 or 2,000 at $2 but he has so much space that he has decided to make 10,000 available for $1. In other words this is the lowest price at which a high class festive entertainment has ever been offered in Milwaukee.

ACE NINE EVEN IN DOUBLE BILL

Local Squad Defeats Coated Paper Team and Loses to Dale Aggregation

Appleton Aces broke even in their baseball schedule this week, defeating Appleton Coated Paper nine 14-8 last Sunday, and losing to Dale the following day by a 4-1 count. Dale bunched hits in the fifth inning and, aided by three errors by the Aces, drove all four runs across the plate in that stanza. The Aces scored their single counter on Barrell's single. Schuerle's two bagger and Guilfoyle's single base blow. The loss of Paul Gebke, crack Ace pitcher who has gone to Minocqua, seriously handicapped the team. A return game will be played with Dale Sunday on the latter's diamond.

GIANTS TROUNCE RED CREW TWICE

McGraw Men Take New Lease on Life With Twin Victory Friday

The New York Giants, in the lowest position they have known in years, may have turned upon their oppressors.

Friday they flung back the league leading Cincinnati Reds on the enemy's own battleground by scores of 7 to 4 and 4 to 1. John McGraw used about every man on his payroll to win the first victory, for the Reds fought back throughout. Pete Donohue finally leaving for the showers in the seventh. Hugh McQuillan pitched excellent ball for New York in the second, allowing only four hits, while his mates registered 12 safeties.

Jess Barnes of Brooklyn fell victim to the Chicago Cub sluggers in the third and the Dodgers went down under a 7 to 3 count. Charley Root permitted the opposition to hit often but granted scores in only two innings. Pittsburgh and Philadelphia staged another slugfest with the Pirates coming from behind to win 9 to 6. Grantham contributed a homer, triple and single for a perfect day at bat while Nixon equalled the percentage, but not the distance with a double and two singles. Lee Meadows, who relieved Sogger in the second, gained credit for the victory when Pittsburgh put across six runs in the fifth.

Lefty Sherdel was effective when trouble threatened and hurled the

COUNTY NORMAL SCHOOL OPENS SUMMER SESSION

Outagamie-co Training school will open its 30-day summer session Monday morning. More than seventy pupils have already enrolled, and it is expected that a considerable number of students will register during the opening day. Members of the faculty are W. P. Hagman, principal of the school, Miss Mildred Carter, Joseph Haas of Kaukauna, and H. A. Ludwig, instructor of mathematics in Kaukauna High school. Supt. A. G. Meating will not be regularly enrolled as a member of the faculty, but he plans to conduct a daily class to discuss problems of administration in county schools.

Cardinals to a 2 to 1 conquest of the Boston Braves. Home runs by Babe Ruth and Ben Paschall gave the New York Yankees another lease on life and they defeated the Cleveland Indians in the second game of the series 8 to 2.

Jim Poole waited until the tenth inning to send forth the circuit blow that gave Philadelphia a 4 to 3 conquest over the Chicago White Sox. Barrett, appearing for the Sox as a pinch hitter in the sixth, also clouted a homer which put his team in the van.

Detroit came out of its losing streak which had reached six straight to humble the Red Sox 9 to 0, with Collins allowing six hits, four for extra bases.

Washington was sorry that it traded Win Ballou to the St. Louis Browns. For the youngster downed the American League champions 4 to 3, although he issued six passes.

ROUNDERS LEADING SOFTBALL LEAGUE

Kimberly— Wrinkles Rounders head the standing of the Kimberly Softball league, having won five and lost one game. The only victory over the Rounders is credited to Wydevens Shoes, who trounced the Rounders in easy fashion 24 to 10 in the opening game of the season. The Postmasters are secure in second place with the Wydevens half a game behind. The Clubhouse team, with Joe Sandhofer at the helm has won one and lost one out of two starts. The Bakers have won one game and lost three while the Hardware are collar champions, having lost four and won one. The games for next week are: Monday July 12, Bakers vs. Postmasters; Wednesday, Clubhouse vs. Wydevens Shoes; Thursday, July 15, Hardware vs. Rounders.

MAKE BOTTLES GERM PROOF AT BEVERAGE PLANT

W. Hamm, and Son Install Machine Which Insures Perfect Sanitation

Recent installation of several pieces of new and up to date machinery at the plant of W. H. Hamm and Son, 622 N. Division-st., manufacturers of carbonated beverages and sodas insures the utmost in sanitation makes the local plant one of the most modern and best-equipped bottling works in the state. One of the latest pieces of equipment added to the local establishment is a bottle washing machine capable of cleansing scores of bottle simultaneously.

The washing machine gives each bottle 23 applications or rinses so that by the time the bottles come out from their final or twenty-third bath they are thoroughly cleansed both inside and outside and equally well disinfected. Of the 23 rinsings 11 are applications in a hot caustic solution averaging 140 degrees fahrenheit.

Empty bottles are taken from the case and placed in an endless chain belt which carries them into the compartment of the machine where they get their first rinse in water of a moderate temperature. As the applications are repeated the temperature of the water is gradually raised until it has been advanced enough to place the bottles in the 140 degrees caustic solution. The temperature is advanced gradually in each application to prevent breaking or cracking by immediately immersing bottles in the hot solution.

After the 11 applications of caustic solution the bottles are gradually cooled by water baths a lower temperature. The final application is a temperature shower bath both inside and outside the bottle. No brushes are used in any of the washing processes of the new machine as disease germs collect very rapidly on the ends of hair brushes.

As soon as the bottles come out of the washer thoroughly cleansed and sterilized they are transferred to the filling machine refilled, capped, and put back in the case ready for distribution again. In making the transfer the operator of the two machines grasps the bottom of the bottle as it comes through the washer bottom side up and inserts it in the revolving disk of the filler and thus the neck of the vessel through which the beverage is poured is not touched by human hands following the washing process. The filling machine is set to release a certain quantity of beverage to fill each bottle as it comes around the revolving disk and upon further turning of the disk a cap is clamped on the bottle. The caps are placed in a bin at the top of the machine and are let down one by one through a tube as each bottle is capped.

A DODGE BROTHERS SEDAN

$895/

F. O. B. Detroit

People are surprised to learn that this beautiful and sturdy car now sells for $895.

They have heard so much about its exceptional value that they are under the impression it sells for a higher price.

Moreover, the Sedan possesses all the roominess and character of closed cars that call for a much greater investment.

It is substantial in appearance because it is substantial in fact. And serves its owners far beyond the period usually expected of a car at any price.

The body is all steel—safe, sturdy, fireproof, and smartly finished below the belt line in coolie blue lacquer, with cartouche yellow stripe—upper body in black lacquer—shields and fenders in black, oven-baked enamel.

Blue Spanish genuine leather upholstery, removable rear seat-back, and optional wood or steel wheels are included among many other features that commend themselves forcefully to the buyer.

Many who expected to buy a cheaper car, now find that Dodge Brothers product is well within their means. Many who had expected to buy something more expensive, now find everything they could possibly desire in these smart and dependable vehicles.

See the cars for yourself—and investigate our attractive time-payment plan.
